'Dramatize Needs'

Migrant Workers Embark on March

BY DAVID GIFFEY

Wautoma — Twenty-four marchers left St. Joseph Catholic Church about 9:30 a.m. today during a light rainfall to begin a five-day, 80-mile trip to Madison.

The march, in the words of the leader, Jesus Salas, is to "dramatize the needs of migrant farm workers in Wisconsin."

Eighteen of the marchers were Mexican-American migrant farm workers from Wauwasha County. The Rev. Michael Garrigan, a priest at St. Joseph, and the Rev. Barry Shaw, director of the Wisconsin Council of Churches, accompanied the marchers.

The group carried a U.S. flag, a large red and black banner bearing the Wisconsin Farm Workers Association "thunderbird" emblem, and placards depicting the "Virgen de Guadalupe" — patron saint of Mexico.

Tuesday March

The entourage will travel approximately 15 miles today to spend the night at a wayside near Coloma. Tuesday's segment of the march will cover about 18 miles, planners said, and the migrants will spend Tuesday night at the Mission Virgen de Guadalupe, Endeavor.

Leaders of the effort to organize farm workers in this Wauwasha County community made known their demands to state officials last Friday.

A meeting between leaders of the movement and state officials is scheduled for tonight in Wautoma. State groups represented at tonight's meeting reportedly include the State Industrial Commission, the governor's committees of Migration and Human Rights, the Wisconsin Cannery Association, and the Wisconsin State Employment Service.

Beatles Nearly Mobbed in Ohio

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Beatles barely missed being mobbed Sunday night as nearly 3,000 screaming teen-agers surged to the stage at Cleveland Municipal Stadium.

The show was halted for about half an hour as the Beatles raced to a trailer behind the stage set up on the baseball diamond. The crowd milled around the stage for about 15 minutes before returning to their seats at the urging of police and a disc jockey.

"We'll stop the concert unless you move back," the disc jockey yelled into a microphone on the stage. "Hold it, move back."

Stadium officials said the screaming fans caused extensive damage to the Cleveland Indians' infield.

March to Continue

The demands made Friday asked that migrant farm workers be guaranteed a minimum wage of $1.25 per hour if piece-work rates should fall below that figure, public sanitary facilities in centers of migrant activity, insurance programs for migrants and representations of migrants on the Governor's Committee on Migratory Labor.

In an emotional appeal to approximately 300 migrant workers from the steps of the Wautoma courthouse Sunday, Salas asked for token representatives from migrant labor camps in the county. He indicated that the migrants walking with him to Madison represent "an appeal to the conscience of the people of Wisconsin asking their support."

Spacecraft in Moon Orbit

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A short snort from a little rocket has pushed America's Lunar Orbiter into an orbit around the Moon — a perfect spot, scientists say, from which to take close-up portraits of the pockmarked lunar surface.

The 850-pound spacecraft, carrying cameras and other experiments, attained lunar orbit at 11:34 a.m. Sunday when the 100-pound-thrust rocket fired for 10 minutes.

Scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the blast slowed the shiny craft by 1,510 miles an hour, allowing lunar gravity to trap the Orbiter and swing it into orbit.

First Goal

Spokesmen for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Orbiter swings in an orbit ranging from 119 miles to 1,160 miles above the moon, every 3 hours, 37 minutes and 36 seconds.

"It has passed its first goal, attaining orbit around the moon," said retired Navy Capt. Lee R. Scherer, program director for NASA Sunday. "Its next task is to take the pictures. We're confident it will."

Airline Negotiators Agree On Strike Settlement Terms

Vote on Tentative Pact By 35,000 Machinists May Be Scheduled for Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A settlement agreement in the 39-day airlines strike was announced today, subject to a vote of approval by 35,400 strikers against five major airlines.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds said in announcing the tentative contract agreement that a vote by the striking members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists would be held "possibly and hopefully tomorrow."

Terms Secret

Terms of the contract agreement were kept secret pending the vote but informed estimates placed the total three-year cost at some $90 million, or about 8 per cent per year. Top mechanics now make $3.52 per hour, plus fringe benefits that bring a total to around $4 per hour.

Asked how he felt about the settlement, reached after 20 straight hours of Labor Department talks, Siemiller said: "I'm tired. Let's go home."

Reynolds called the agreement a "memorandum of understanding" and emphasized it was not final until approved by the strikers who voted down a previous agreement negotiated in the White House.

If approved by the striking mechanics, it would bring to an end the longest, biggest and most costly strike.

No Prediction

While Siemiller declined to predict the outcome of the vote, the settlement in addition to reportedly containing considerably higher wages and benefits than the rejected White House package also contained a cost of living wage escalator clause.

The wage escalator had been one of the union's most vital demands from the beginning of the long dispute and its absence in the earlier agreement was a reason given by strikers in many areas for turning down the White House agreement July 31.

Reynolds said "it is an agreement reached by the parties. It was not in any way forced upon them."

Johnson Says Allies Won't Be Beaten by Reds

Viet Nam Takeover Impossible, LBJ Reports After Review

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says weekend talks with Gen. William C. Westmoreland shored up his conviction that American and allied troops "will not be defeated by the Communists in Viet Nam."

A Communist takeover "is no longer just improbable. It is impossible," the President said after he and Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam, concluded a review of the status of the war.

Talking with newsmen on the front lawn of the LBJ Ranch, Johnson tempered his statement with these words: "No one can say how many men will be needed or how long we must persevere. The American people must know there will be no quick victory, but the world must know that we will not quit."

Still More Troops

Westmoreland, fielding a flurry of questions from reporters, said additional troops will be needed in Viet Nam before the end of the year. He said it was impossible to determine now the extent of the increase.

The general arrived at the ranch Saturday evening but his presence remained secret until he and his wife attended church services Sunday with President and Mrs. Johnson. Westmoreland spent about 18 hours at the ranch before heading back for Viet Nam.

As the war conference was held in Texas, there were these developments elsewhere:

—The Cambodian chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, said he will ask U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman to cancel his planned trip to Cambodia next month. Sihanouk also said he sees no sign the Viet Nam war will end in the foreseeable future.

Milwaukee Goose Apes Flamingos

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Visitors to the Milwaukee County Zoo are taking a puzzled gander at the goose who thinks he's a flamingo.

Zoo officials said the gosling, born June 2, had a fixation for zoo workers whom he followed constantly until he discovered the flamingo set.

They said the Canada goose has snubbed ducks and other geese, and now stays near the flamingos having even adopted a flamingo trait—standing on one leg.

The spacecraft orbit differed only slightly from the planned, or ideal, course, scientists controlling the device said.

"That orbit is well within the spacecraft's capability to complete the mission," said project director Clifford H. Nelson.

Completing the mission will require Orbiter to fire the rocket once again, but only briefly, to bring it closer to the lunar surface.

Two More Friendly Villages Blasted by Mistaken Attacks

Nine Civilians Reported Killed In Strikes in Mekong Delta Area

SAIGON South Viet Nam, up. U.S. Air Force, Marine and (AP) — Military spokesmen reported today two more apparently mistaken attacks on friendly villages in South Viet positions, cargo barges and rail traffic.

In the first, five villagers were reported killed and 15 wounded in the Mekong Delta Friday. In the second, four civilians were killed and 35 wounded Saturday in the southern part of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

Two other erroneous attacks last week had been reported earlier.

Circumstances Unclear

The circumstances of the attack in the Mekong Delta were not clear. A U.S. military spokesman said it had not been determined whether the casualties were caused by aircraft or artillery. He said the villagers were caught in an action involving South Vietnamese ground forces and supporting aircraft and artillery.

One unconfirmed report said a helicopter gunship was involved. South Vietnamese authorities are investigating.

The attack in the demilitarized zone was carried out by unidentified aircraft. A U.S. spokesman said a preliminary investigation showed no U.S. planes in the area at the time.

Ground Fighting

In ground fighting, the U.S. command reported that a battalion of the 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) Division clashed in heavy action with a battalion of North Vietnamese troops in the Chu Pong Mountains near the Cambodian border 18 miles southwest of Plei Me.

The fighting erupted Sunday and broke off at noon today. A U.S. spokesman said American casualties were light, and North Vietnamese casualties were not known.

The air offensive over North Viet Nam continued without let-

Postal Clerks Union Wants Recognition

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The United Federation of Postal Clerks, AFL-CIO, says its major objective during the next two years will be to win congressional recognition of the 160,000-member union.

The Post Office Department now recognizes the union under an executive order issued by President John F. Kennedy in 1961. The federation wants Congress to pass a law calling for binding arbitration, mandatory enforcement and penalties for violation.

Rioting Whites, Police Clash in Chicago Melee

Battle Erupts After Civil Rights Housing Marches

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thousands of rioting whites clashed with club-swinging policemen in Chicago Sunday night after three separate civil rights marches into all-white neighborhoods.

At least 16 persons — including five policemen — were injured and police arrested 21 persons during the melee.

Police swarmed into Marquette Park on the city's Southwest Side and knocked several persons to the ground with clubs as thousands of white persons stormed through the park.

The park finally was emptied and officers denied anyone entrance.

Nazi Leader

The violence erupted after a leader of the American Nazi party called on white persons to march into Negro areas.

The violence came after the civil rights marches into Gage Park, Bogan and Jefferson Park neighborhoods to protest alleged housing discrimination.

Marquette Park was outside the area of the civil rights marches, but the demonstrators were met with volleys of rocks and bottles which resulted in some injuries and several arrests.

John Patler of the American Nazi party earlier had told

Knife May Be One Used in Nurse Killings

CHICAGO (AP) — A knife of the type believed used in the slaying of eight student nurses in Chicago reportedly has been recovered near the scene of the massacre.

The Chicago Sun-Times said the knife reportedly was recovered from the Calumet River near a bridge that is a 15-minute walk from the scene of the South Side killings July 14.

The knife was described as a muskrat variety used by fur trappers and hunters — with two 3-inch blades, each sharpened to razor-like keenness on both edges.

Medical pathologists for the Cook County coroner reported that a double-edge knife was used to kill the young women in their South Side townhouse dormitory.

The newspaper said the knife finally was recovered by a commercial salvage firm after policemen located it on information from an undisclosed source.

Richard Spick, 24, indicted in the slayings, is scheduled to appear Thursday in the Circuit Court's criminal division.

Money Only Real Issue In Abe Swed's Campaign

By HARRY CHANDLER
Associated Press Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—"There may be three other Democratic candidates for governor," said Abe L. Swed. "But I'm the only one who has the national committee woman for a chauffeur."

There's a reason, Swed is married to her.

Mrs. Jeanette Swed, a vivacious brunette, is an astute political campaigner with an astounding memory for names and faces. She stumped the state to win her committee post and in so doing picked up a host of friends and acquaintances, a factor that should prove a definite asset in the present circumstance.

But as she crisscrosses the state at the wheel of her husband's car there's one thing for sure—she never lets herself forget that although she's the wife of a candidate she's also national committee woman with definite responsibilities.

Successful Businessman

The 57-year-old Swed — tall, greying, with the look of a successful businessman, which he is—swung into high gear with his campaign in mid-July.

While the other candidates campaigned hotly for a year, Swed was minding his own business. That's plural. He runs a real estate investment firm and a family shoe business, both notably successful, and it took some doing to wind up his affairs in order to undertake full-time activity on the campaign trail.

Swed is running a one-issue campaign in his first try for public office after years of diligent work in behalf of other Democrats. You can boil the issue down to one word: money.

Not money for himself, Swed explains; money for Wisconsin's taxpayers.

Issues Important

"Money is the over-riding issue in this campaign," Swed tells his audiences. "All the other issues are important—aid to the elderly, clean water, highway construction particularly on way construction particularly on Highways 15 and 51, a good social program aid to veterans and much, much cheaper higher education. But all these things take money and our taxpayers are already overburdened."

"Mickey Mouse could be the best governor this state ever had if he had the money to work with," Swed told a group of Milwaukeeans at a coffee hour moved outdoors on a steamy, summer day.

"Our taxpayers need help. Day after day people tell me they can't afford to live in their new homes because of high taxes. Wisconsin has the third highest tax rate in the nation yet it is 22nd in incomes. And we still need so much in this state."

Swed proposes tax reform as the answer to Wisconsin's dilemma. He advocates a modernization of the state's basic tax method—the taxing of incomes—a system which he points out has been unchanged since 1911 except to raise the rate schedule, impose a surtax and enact a sales tax.

Transaction Fee

He outlines his tax program this way:
1. Enact a transaction fee on all finished goods sold in our state, whether manufactured within or outside the state. (There would be no taxation of component parts or raw materials used in manufacture.)
2. Eliminate corporate taxes.
3. Eliminate the sales tax.
4. Eliminate the income tax on the first $5,000 of wages.
5. Reduce property taxes by one-third.

The transaction fee is the key-stone of Swed's tax program. He said it would net the state about $1.5 billion each biennium and would NOT raise consumer prices.

States Collect

"Provisions for a state transaction tax is already in the wholesale price of the items," Swed explains. "Wholesale prices are geared to the highest state tax. Business uses this process in order to have a uniform retail price throughout the nation. Thirty-eight states are collecting the transaction tax but Wisconsin is not."

A woman at the coffee hour fired the question Swed is inevitably asked:

"Why hasn't someone thought of this before?"

Swed has this answer:
"For one thing, we've had no innovators as governor. We've had stagnators. The easiest way to bring in money is to tax incomes."

For another, he added, at least three state senators to whom he showed a clipping from a Chicago paper at a picnic at Muskego had never heard that Illinois had a use tax as a sales tax.

Theory Effective

Swed's tax theory seems to be effective with his listeners. Random comments included: "If you really mean everything you're talking about, I hope you get in" and "Sounds like a good program."

Swed got his idea for tax reform while serving in 1964 as a member of the Blue Ribbon

Committee of 25 citizens asked to review the state's fiscal policies. Swed was assigned to a subcommittee to study state and local fiscal policies.

"I learned to my amazement," he recalled, "how terrible a tax burden our people are carrying compared to neighboring states. Illinois and Michigan had no income tax at all and Indiana a very small one. I also discovered that 38 states impose taxes on out-of-state firms for the privilege of doing business in their states. But Wisconsin residents carry the entire burden while permitting out-of-state people to get away scot free."

Raises Funds

Swed, born in Poland but brought to this country at the age of three, has long been interested in Democratic politics. He held a number of party posts and in 1964 was a delegate to national convention. But he has been best known as a fundraiser.

He was co-chairman of the first $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner ever held by the party in Wisconsin. President John F. Kennedy was the principal speaker at the Milwaukee Arena affair. The soiree brought in $250,000, dwarfing the previous record receipts of $23,000.

In 1964, Swed was treasurer of President Lyndon B. Johnson's Wisconsin campaign committee. He also served on the advisory committee to the State Building Commission.

The Sweds will observe their 37th wedding anniversary in November. They have one daughter, Sandra, wife of Dr. Jordan Lewis, Menomonee Falls veterinarian, and are doting grandparents of two little girls, Amy, 9, and Hilary, 7.

Swed and his wife are currently setting a grueling pace pace on the campaign trail on which they expect to visit each of the state's 72 counties. The faire consists of appearances at coffee hours, shopping centers, picnics and fairs together with speeches at public meetings and on radio and television shows.

"I've already lost 15 pounds—which I really didn't need," said Swed.

If the meeting is a Democratic party gathering, Mrs. Swed gives her report in the role of national committeewoman, then joins the audience to listen to her husband speak.

Once, when Swed had a conflict in his schedule, his wife read the speech he had prepared for the meeting.

Mrs. Swed says her husband's chief interest "has always been in people."

"He is a very sincere man and people find him very easy to talk with. So many people come to him for advice. He always finds the time to listen and talk with them. You know, he helped organize the Senior Citizens of Wisconsin. They chose him as their first honor-ray member. I'm proud of that."

Close to People

"Abe has a closeness with people. So often they say to me, 'he's a busy man, he's running for governor but he has time to talk with us.'"

At the start of a day when Swed was trying to keep a few important business appointments as well as campaign engagements, he and his wife walked across the street from one of his downtown offices to pass out literature to Wisconsin Telephone Company employees on their way to work.

They distributed an item which has proved to be one of the best advertising gimmicks of Swed's campaign. It is in the shape of a greenback which looks like a $100 bill but carries the label "THIS PLAN IS WORTH MONEY." Swed's picture and a capsule version of his tax program are printed on it.

"Everyone grabs it almost as if it was real money," said Swed. "And you know, we've passed out 50,000 of them and found only one that had been tossed aside. Undoubtedly that fellow is going to vote for one of my opponents."

Swed doesn't talk party politics and he parries questions about the Viet Nam situation with the comment "it's bad, of course, but it is something a governor can do nothing about."

"I still say, money is the issue," he said in concluding a coffee hour speech. "And it's non-partisan. Take a dollar bill, look at both sides of it. If you can find a picture of an elephant or a donkey on it, I'll give you a thousand dollars."

50,000 Chinese Laborers Working In North Viet Nam

More Might be Brought In to Keep Open Bombed Roads, Rail Lines

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The American bombing of North Viet Nam has drawn an estimated 50,000 Red Chinese laborers across the border to keep road and rail supply lines operating, U. S. authorities say. More are probably available if needed. Whether they are called upon depends on political considerations as well as military necessity.

The historical antagonism between Viet Nam and China is a factor that already must be troubling the Hanoi regime, the sources said. Any influx of Chinese poses a political problem for the North Vietnamese leaders.

Authorities also assume that, in addition to the Chinese laborers in North Viet Nam, more may be working to keep the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos in operation.

Jungle Route
Unknown thousands of Vietnamese laborers are involved in maintaining the trail. This is particularly true of those segments of the sprawling jungle-covered route that have been provided surfaces hard enough for trucks.

"We estimate that at any given moment they have between 30,000 to 50,000 Chinese laborers available," one officer said.

and the North Vietnamese have kept it open despite intensive bombing.

Korea Tactics
The Communists frequently employ tactics learned in North Korea where the U. S. Air Force daily pounded the railroads — and never kept them out of action for very long.

The Reds stretch a labor force along the rails with sandbags and crude tools. Restoration work starts within minutes after the bombers leave. If the bombers come back, the process begins again.

Most of the Chinese now employed in North Viet Nam are believed to be strung out along the two major rail lines leading north from Hanoi.

One line runs northwest along the Red River Valley to Kunming, the Chinese terminus of the old Burma route used by the allies in World War II. Alongside runs a highway.

Northern Line
The other line runs almost due north to the Chinese border just above Lang Son, one of the first vital points wrested from the French by the Viet Minh during the French effort to hold Indochina. It is also paralleled by a highway.

Both rail lines undergo daily poundings from the Air Force, but there evidently has been no systematic effort to wreck them completely. The effort, as Korea showed, is not worth the trouble.

The amount of traffic on these lines is also questionable. Most supplies for Hanoi come in through the port of Haiphong.

The strikes against the supply routes have evolved into a sort of game of chance with each side playing percentages.

The United States has never claimed that its Air Force could cut all supplies coming south. It simply says it can raise the cost of moving supplies — in terms of money and military muscle that the Reds could use elsewhere.

Japan Mourns Soldiers Killed in World War

TOKYO (AP) — Japan mourned today for the 3.1 million soldiers and civilians who died in World War II.

Emperor Hirohito, Empress Nagako, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, and the Cabinet attended a memorial ceremony at the Hall of Martial Arts.

The committee, after saying in its 21-page report that it found no adequate scientific data at this time to prove the pills unsafe, added:

"It has nevertheless taken full cognizance of certain very infrequent but serious side effects and of possible theoretic risks suggested by animal experimental data and by some of the metabolic changes in human beings.

"In the final analysis, each physician must evaluate the advantages and the risks this method of contraception in comparison with other available methods or with no contraception at all. He can do this wisely only when there is presented to him dispassionate scientific knowledge of the available data."

It was brought out the manufacturers of the drugs have had 110 deaths reported to them which allegedly could have been associated with taking of the oral contraceptives.

But the committee emphasized that the conditions which caused the deaths also occur normally in women who have never had the pills.

At a briefing for newsmen, doctors said it would take at least 10 years to determine whether there is a relationship between the pills and the development of cancer, and an unknown number of years to determine whether use of the pills induces development of diabetes.

The doctors said the pills are regarded as 99 per cent effective in conception control.

Weyauwega Entrants Win

Bob Hope, Auto Race, Horse Show Draw Seam-Bustin' Crowds to Fair

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Wisconsin State Fair continued to attract seam-stretching throngs Sunday with draft horses proving to be a bigger attraction than anticipated.

Bob Hope, horses and a U.S. Auto Club 150 - mile stock car race helped draw 127,609 persons to the fairgrounds Sunday, the second largest single - day attendance in the fair's history and about 14,000 more than last year's third-day figure.

The Draft horse show, held for the first time on a Sunday, was the fair's biggest in 15 years and filled the coliseum five times for individual shows with crowds of 2,000 and more.

Show superintendent Rolland Ruby expressed surprise at the response to the draft horse competition, and called the show "exceptionally good. It is unusual to find that many hitches in one state."

Good Hitches
Erick Struck, a Weyauwega lumberman, won the men's single car division with a large Clydesdale. Clifford Lee of Menomonie won six - horse hitch judging.

The four-horse hitch title went to Struck & Schneider of Weyauwega. Team titles went to Robert Eschrich Jr., Milwaukee; Jacob Ruby, Brookfield, and the Jones Farm of Bangor.

Starting with a record opening day attendance, the fair's three day total was 285,000 compared to 242,000 at the same point in 1965. Fair authorities predicted a 10-day figure exceeding a million breaking the record of 933,004.

Matinee Cancelled
Perry Como's scheduled matinee today, replacing the Bob Hope show, was canceled because of the Como group's transportation problems with the airline strike. Como was to appear tonight.

Repeating victories he scored last year, Wilbur Stark of Waterloo took the premier exhibition banner and the Wisconsin Crop Improvement Association's crown for the most awards in the farm show.

He captured titles in honey display, the grain and corn divisions, and took the honors in the threshed grain display with an entry of Neenah oats.

Elmer Weiland of Coloma was another heavy winner with titles in potatoes, and legume and grass seed displays.

Swine Competition
Two Rock County 4 - H Club members from Evansville, Gordon Andrew, 16, and Paul George, 17, led the Spotted and Duroc classes in swine competition Friday.

Stephen Lang 14, of Beloit showed the swine division's champion barrow, a Poland China.

The champion Holstein bull was shown by Gregory Bovre, 19, of Edgerton, the junior champion female by Robert Quick, 18, of Bagley, and the show's top showman title went to John Hurtgen, 18, Pewaukee.

The grand champion bantam chicken was exhibited by Carle L. Tiedke of Brookfield the best rooster by Ted Halbach of Bristol, the best hen by Jack Bancroft of Oak Creek and the top cockerel by Jeff Halbach, Waterford.

Airline Strike Legislation Sent to House

Representatives Hesitant to Slap Labor Before Election

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — Another political hot potato—a measure to halt the 38-day airlines strike—gets dumped this week into the laps of House members already jittery over this fall's elections.

Coming on the heels of last week's politically significant voting on the civil rights bill, it tops a heavy congressional program dealing with such matters as an urban development, mass transportation, defense financing and automobile and highway safety.

The strike stoppage measure already has passed the Senate and House leaders hope to have it ready for floor action Tuesday or Wednesday. The resolution would require striking mechanics to return to work for up to 180 days, pending settlement of their differences with five carriers. The legislation is opposed bitterly by organized labor.

Other Bills
The House has an assortment of odds and ends on today's docket, ranging from financing the Federal National Mortgage Association to boosting fees for migratory bird hunting.

If the strike bill doesn't tie it up too long, the House also plans to act during the week on a mass transportation bill, separate automobile and highway safety measures already passed by the Senate and a Senate-passed rural community development bill.

This week's Senate program calls for floor action on a House-passed $58.6-billion defense appropriation, a bill to start a massive program of housing and renewal projects in selected cities and a House-passed measure to increase minimum wages and broaden coverage.

The Senate opens debate today on the third in a series of housing bills it is considering, a proposal to extend the mass transit subsidy program for two years with $450 million of new funds.

Republicans pledged a fight to reduce the total of $300 million, which would mean a continuance at the present level of $150 million of annual spending. They contend this is another case where federal outlays should not be increased in an inflationary economic situation.

Today's Chuckle

The trouble with America's foreign relations is that so many of them are broke.

Dirksen Promises Fight for Economy

No Substantial Reductions Made Since Coalition to Cut Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican economy campaign is floundering in Congress but Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen says it will continue.

Not since Dirksen led the successful fight to cut the foreign aid authorization by $250 million have the Republicans been able to enlist enough Democratic allies to make any substantial spending reductions.

Last Friday they even fell off the economy wagon in voting almost to a man to add new authority for $900 million in college dormitory loans to an omnibus housing bill.

In this instance the GOP members could claim that this wasn't really an expenditure, since such loans eventually will be repaid. But the money comes out of the hide of President Johnson's current spending budget and the administration fought the move.

Only Opposition
Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who contends that new construction projects only add to the inflationary pressures about which Republicans have been complaining loudly, was the only member of his party to oppose the amendment.

Dirksen said in an interview he recognizes the difficulty of cutting back on projects which promise local benefits for states and communities.

"So many of these programs operate almost automatically so that it's like getting plums off a tree without even reaching for them," he said. "And even Republicans like plums."

Mass HTransit Bill
When debate begins today on the administration's mass transit bill, Dirksen said there will be efforts to reduce the first year's proposed outlays from $150 million to $100 million. He said these will be linked with moves to pare second-year outlays from $225 million to $150 million.

In this instance the Republican economists will be fighting only a rear guard action. They will be for mass transit aid but at a slower pace than the Democrats.

Another core measure of the Johnson Great Society program, to put $900 million into "demonstration cities" over a two-year period, seems likely to face a frontal assault from the Republicans.

No Harmful Effects Reported In Oral Contraceptive Study

By W. JOYNES MCFARLAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — A government-appointed medical advisory committee says the use of oral contraceptives should continue while studies of possible harmful effects are expanded.

The committee noted "certain very infrequent but serious side effects," but it said in a report released Sunday night that it found "no adequate scientific data, at this time, proving these compounds unsafe for human use."

The Food and Drug Administration appointed the 10-member committee last year and FDA Commissioner James L. Goddard said steps are planned or already have been taken to implement its recommendations.

Uniform Labeling
The recommendations include a requirement that all oral contraceptives be uniformly labeled with warnings of possible serious side effects, and elimination of restrictions on the length of time women may take the pills regularly.

Goddard also announced expansion of some present studies of possible adverse effects and said other studies are being planned.

At a briefing for newsmen, doctors said it would take at least 10 years to determine whether there is a relationship between the pills and the development of cancer, and an unknown number of years to determine whether use of the pills induces development of diabetes.

The doctors said the pills are regarded as 99 per cent effective in conception control.

Offer $5 Million Bridge Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Park Service has proposed a $5 million World Bridge over the Washington Channel that would be studded with 120 shops, stores, cafes, galleries and exhibit spaces.

It would connect the city with the $10-million national aquarium scheduled to be completed in four years. Officials hope the bridge can be completed by that time.

The bridge, described as a "world's fair in miniature," was designed by architect Chloethiel Woodward Smith. It is based on the Ponte Vecchio in Florence, Italy.

The World Bridge would have a series of five 2-story and 3-story buildings built 20 feet or more above the water to permit boats to travel beneath them.

Officials said the bridge would be built with private capital if enabling legislation is passed by Congress.

Red Chinese Self-Declared World Leaders

Communique Says
Soviets Safeguard, Restore Capitalism

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Red Chinese wrote a fairy tale over the weekend.

No group in history ever faced a more gruesome, gigantic or frustrating task than the Chinese Reds when they took over their country in 1949 and had to rush it and 700 million people out of antiquity in a hurry.

They have made tremendous progress, led by men like Mao Tze-tung, who for years were fanatic in their zeal to do what they finally had a chance to do.

Now they are old but still fanatic, for this was the only way of life they knew and it is too late for change. This has been the history of others, like Stalin.

Others in China realized rigidity is the condition of a corpse and change a condition of life: that in time through the evolutionary process political parties change to adjust like bananas, crocodiles and people.

Surrender Dogma
They have seen Communist parties around the world change — as in Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union — surrendering dogma to necessities and ideology to reality, but the critics of Mao's regime were purged.

Early this month the Chinese Communist party's Central Committee met for 12 days and then issued a communique which sounded in part like something from another world.

The fairy tale was in the euphoria about economic, agricultural and industrial successes.
No doubt Red China was moving forward. But you would never guess it had any setbacks, made any mistakes. It had to have had them, with its vast problems. It simply did not admit them.

There was one thing you would guess: it is being careful about trying a second "great leap forward." It tried a "great leap" in 1958 — under Mao's prodding, a radical collectivization of farm and factory — that turned into a great disaster.

No Promise
This weekend's communique did not promise a great leap. It may have hinted one.

The bitter break with the Soviet Union looks deeper than ever. The communique not only accused the Soviets of betraying communism and safeguarding capitalism but even of trying to restore capitalism.

Yet, there was a pathetic sense of loneliness and reaction about the communique for more reasons than one:

1. Red China set itself up as the leader of the world Communist movement, knowing as it did so, that one by one other countries, Communist or non-Communist, are beginning to look on her dubiously or breaking away.

2. The whole communique, while its purpose may be to assure internal discipline, is a groveling, cringing, deification of a man, Mao, which makes an obscenity of all other intellects in China because compared with his, all others look like trash.

In effect the Chinese people are being taken down the most reactionary of all roads. Instead of being urged to seek new values, insights and understandings they are being told the answers are all in and that in all history only three men have had them: Mao, Marx, and Lenin.

Life at the Penitentiary

The annual report of Warden John Burke of the state prison at Waupun relates additional liberalization of the penitentiary regimen including the authorization of Sunday and holiday visiting privileges there for friends and relatives of inmates for the first time. Over the years the rules of conduct of the men who have been committed behind its massive walls have been steadily made more humane, as Wisconsin corrections authorities have moved away, together with their profession as a whole, from the punitive and often cruel practices of former times.

We can remember, for example, in our own visiting experiences at Waupun, such monastic requirements as absolute silence among the inmates, cropped haircuts and other inhibitions of normal habits. Wisconsin is perhaps typical of the progressive states of the country in recognizing that these men are human beings, that they will sooner or later be returned to the open society from which they came, and that their ultimate rehabilitation can be assured most reliably by refraining from unnecessary harshness that may make them unfit for such a return. The deprivation of a man's liberty is the ultimate and most effective punishment for crime, in the general view of the modern criminal code.

The report of Mr. Burke and of Mr. Gagnon, who is the chief custodial officer at the new Wisconsin Correctional Institution at Fox Lake, emphasize the gradually and planned expansion of both work and educational programs for the prisoners.

Such emphasis is particularly important at the Fox Lake prison, which has a selected population of younger men who have a greater promise of rehabilitation and generally are serving lesser terms. The average age of the inmates there is reported as about 23 years. Obviously, the most fruitful part of a training program there is in formal education, and particularly in the vocational subjects that the institution has elaborated since it was built a few years ago. Related to that service is the new "work release" program authorized by the legislature a year ago, and which permits inmates carefully selected to take jobs with outside employers in a modification of what is known as the "Huber Law" program for county jail prisoners.

Such men in these times of labor market shortages are often given work experiences of tangible value toward their ultimate discharge or parole, and meanwhile have the considerable satisfaction of contributing to the support of their families and other dependents at home. Under the plan they are paid wages, are charged for their meals and other expenses, and are otherwise treated as regular workers. That there are risks involved is obvious. That the prison administrators are aware of the risks, and are careful in their handling of the program, is indicated by the comparatively few failures and mishaps recorded thus far.

Capitalizing on Rezoning

To rezone or not to rezone has been the question providing planning commissions and city councils a major headache across the nation, and the Fox Cities area has been no exception.

There are occasions when rezoning of land is proper when tying in with a community's zoning plan, or when special situations which are not adverse to good planning arise and are acted upon favorably by the local governing bodies.

Here in Appleton there has been an unusual amount of activity in rezoning residential properties to local business or commercial which represents an almost automatic windfall for the owner because the property value soars. However, some people may be taking advantage of the rezoning process.

On the other hand, there is the claim by real estate people that Appleton is lacking in the amount of land that should be available for business and commercial activities. When the new city zoning code is considered by the Plan Commission in the near future, representatives of the real estate profession will be asked for their observations and recommendations.

To fully understand how tapping residential property for commercial rezoning works, we cite a recent incident here. A firm petitioned for rezoning of two different pieces of residential property on one street and the Plan Commission and City Council went along changing them to commercial.

However, after this rezoning action had been taken by the municipal bodies, the original petitioners informed the city another site on the same street already zoned commercial was chosen for his project. Now two residential properties which were rezoned for no apparent use and will probably be on the market at the going commercial price.

Handling Juvenile Offenders

The Federal Bureau of Investigation last month issued the results of a national crime study. One of the most serious aspects of the report was the rise in crimes among juveniles in almost all parts of the United States.

The number of arrests of persons under 18 for serious crimes jumped an appalling 47 per cent between 1960 and 1965 while the population of those under 18 increased only 17 per cent. A total of 65 per cent of those arrested for burglary, 70 per cent of those for arson, 80 per cent of those for auto theft and 35 per cent of those for illegal possession of weapons were under 21 years of age in 1965. There was also a continued rise among juveniles in the violent types of crimes.

There has been considerable controversy over how to handle juvenile offenders, whether official secrecy about them is a help or a hindrance, whether probation works, and how to prevent what often seems to be the graduation from juvenile detention homes to reformatories to prisons. One method being used in several sections of the country has come under severe criticism from the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

The method involves sentencing suggestions for the judge in juvenile cases by a panel of teen-age "jurors." They do not decide the guilt or innocence of the accused but recommend sentences in minor crimes for those found guilty. Judges may accept or reject the suggestions but generally accept them.

The teen-age jurors do not usually recommend imprisonment but instead a wide variety of punishments aimed at fitting the crime. A shoplifter is required to wear a sign around town announcing his crime as well as having to pay for the objects he stole. One boy convicted of carrying a dangerous knife in his boot was sentenced to work a number of days at the zoo carving up carcasses to be fed to the lions. Speeders are sent to the morgue to view the mangled bodies of traffic victims or assigned to write their own obituaries, litterbugs or those illegally in possession of alcoholic beverages, must clean beer cans up along the highways and in parks.

Many welfare workers and psychologists have condemned this method of dealing with juvenile offenders. They contend that the jurors are really the "in group" meting out punishment to the "out group" and that secrecy over the names of delinquents is gone. They describe some of the sentences as examples of cruel and unusual punishment and perhaps more dangerous to the youngster's future than a term in a home for delinquents.

But in some areas where the system is in operation, the petty crime rate among juveniles has decreased. The number of accidents among teen-age drivers dropped by a third in one community after offenders had to wear bright red shirts announcing their offense. Some offenders have reported that their sentences gave them time to think things over and did not put a prison term on their records. So far the American Bar Association has not taken a stand for or against the program which is expected to be used in at least 500 juvenile courts within the next few years.

Some of the objections are not particularly valid. The highly lauded secrecy over the names of offenders is generally ineffective as far as the young people are concerned since the word does get around and usually grows in the telling. There is merit in a punishment to fit the crime if the offender is seeking punishment although of course the basic causes for his delinquency may not be touched. There is apparently a growing gap between many young people and adults and judgment by one's own age group may be more effective for certain offenders.

Taylor Writes

Roman Empire Lasted 1,300 Years, Our America Is Only 190 Years Old

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

President Johnson referred recently in a TV talk to "the 190th year of America's independence." This smacks of our nation and our security being somehow a settled matter, so buttressed by the strengths of time that nothing we do may hurt it too much.

Taylor

There we go again, handed either LSD or an anaesthetic. In 476 A.D. Rome's last puppet emperor, Romulus Augustulus, was deposed and a Goth, Odoacer, became the first king of Italy.

The king's gold crown, called the "Iron Crown" because it was said to contain one of the true nails of the Holy Cross (it probably belonged to Constantine), was kept in the Duomo of Monza, near Milan, and is still there.

The Roman era had lasted 1,300 years, Mr. Johnson refers to 190.

BORN IN QUALITY

Rome's civilization, like ours, was born in good government. It rose against the despotic world, just as America rose against the religious and economic limitations of Europe.

The banner of freedom passed from tired Athens to Rome, for the early Roman Empire was a republic — res publica, a public affair, the product of the Hellenic idea that imbued our own founding fathers. Are we going to kill off the optimistic American experiment before it even gets started?

Rome's civilization, like ours, was also a highly commercial civilization. Rome's away from Rome were built, from Britain to the Bosphorus, in the north, the nation stretched its great wall of Hadrian across Britain from the North Sea to Sloway Firth. It separated the Romans from the fierce Scots, Celts and Picti. The frontiers were similarly marked and garrisoned as far from there as Aswan in the deep Sahara, the southmost outpost.

The Rome's away from Rome were tied together by more than 200,000 miles of life-bearing arteries of highway stone.

Rome's political spiders, not her outside enemies, began her decline. The nation lived under clouds of tax collectors. The number of citizens who received substances began to outnumber those who gave. The ambitions and promises of the politicians had already weakened the nation by the time the outside forces of destruction burst with terrifying force against Rome.

The process was similar in its extensions from Sulla to Diocletian: a transition to absolutism, to "benevolent" tyranny, and to the downfall of official truth and public freedom.

Emperor Diocletian brought some new honesty and some peace after 285 A.D., but the basic structure had been drained.

By 311 A.D. the young general Constantine came from Constantinople to Rome's gates, won this Western seal of the empire at the Milvian Bridge and reunited the empire as its only ruler. It was much too late.

Many civilizations have collapsed because economic, social and military problems became so complex and burdensome that the spirit and will of the people were no longer sufficient to cope with them. Drift did the rest. With barbarians outside the walls (as always), it was the enemy inside that cost Rome her place as the world's No. 1 power and can, of course, cost us ours. We see none of that drift now?

FINAL BLOW FELL

The barbarian invasions that began at the end of the 4th Century were neither sudden nor singular. They were long-declared and numerous. But then, when the Roman legions retreated from the Rhine frontier in 406 A.D., the barbarian tides rolled across the provinces practically unopposed and the final blow of many blows on Rome itself fell in 450.

A Chicago friend supplies me an apt question. He asks whether history will write of us:

"Here lies a civilization which declined at the peak of its power, with its power unused. Here lies a decent people who wanted love, not empire, and got neither: who tried to trade power for popularity and lost both. Here lies a nation of advertisers who knew how to change consumers' tastes in cigarettes but were themselves manipulated on all issues that really mattered to their salvation."

If we let our politicians continue to put us under an anaesthetic, we have no one to blame but ourselves.

Wisconsin Report

Should Ownership of Stocks Disqualify Man for Public Office?

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — One of the most difficult proposals about which to make an objective judgment is the periodical demand of campaigning politicians for legislation to require a complete disclosure of the sources of the private income of men holding policymaking offices in the government.

Wyngaard

The halls of the U.S. Congress have heard such demands for years. Lately politicians in Wisconsin have picked up the theme. It is an interesting coincidence that the most insistent of such demands come from candidates for office, challenging the men now sitting in the places they seek. Yet it is noteworthy also that such proposals have recently come from both sides of the partisan system.

Dominic Frinzi, running for the Democratic nomination for governor, as an example, was putting out such a statement in a formal press release the other day even as Louis Ceci, a fellow Milwaukeean who will be the Republican nominee for attorney general in the fall, was offering his identical plan at a news conference in Madison. It didn't require much imagination to deduce that they were talking for the ears of their rivals, as well as about new Wisconsin law they feel is needed and desirable.

THE MERITS

Implicit in such demands is the idea that a governor, or a congressman, or a state legislator, might be inclined to tailor his acts to his personal financial interests, without public disclosure of those interests.

A state elected officer with insurance company stocks, or bank stocks, or public utility stocks, or stocks in many other enterprises, might find ways to favor the businesses in which he has holdings, if he is inclined to do so. More particularly, he might be under pressure from friends and private business associates in such situations, not only in the making of appointments to regulatory agencies, as in the case of the governor, but in the defeat or passage or modification of pending legislation, in the case of members of the United States Congress or the legislature.

(It is an odd coincidence, in passing, that such suspicious thoughts are not uttered, publicly at least, about members of the judiciary, who often make decisions that are at least as important to the welfare of the business and financial community as are within the powers of an individual member of the legislature. A few years ago there was discussion about the legitimacy of judges holding office in various corporations, such as savings and loan associations, but it originated within the bar, rather than in the political arena.)

The implication of such publicity proposals is that a man who is a stockholder in a typical corporation is somehow less qualified for public office than the man who keeps what he owns in a savings account or other forms of property. Yet in an era of more widespread stock ownership in the community than the country has ever shown before, such a rule would tend to discourage many otherwise qualified and desirable men from competing for public place.

ALL HOLDINGS?

But Candidate Frinzi, among others, would impose a yet more drastic rule and require the disclosure for the public record of all wealth and income sources, including bank accounts. It is more difficult to apprehend the relevance of such a proposal, except possibly to discourage men of wealth as candidates.

There is a tendency, as all practical politicians know, of average voters to distrust the very wealthy in politics. It is the reason for the invariable attempt of the campaigning candidate to identify himself with the average man. Yet it is one of the truisms of politics that the man who is of small means, or unsuccessful in his private life, is often frowned upon as a candidate for public place also.

One of the reasons, indeed, for the reluctance of many of the men holding important public offices to commit themselves on the financial disclosure idea is not that a showing of their wealth would be compromising, but the proof of their impecunious situations would be embarrassing.

Growing a Beard Is Difficult, Hazardous

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Four weeks ago, I began growing a beard. The reasons were simple: curiosity and vanity. I wanted to see how I would look in one, and I hoped that it might give me the authoritative air of a Commander Whitehead or the sayr-like elegance of a Peter Ustinov.

Harris

The hardest part of growing a beard is the reaction of the public. You would think it is my own business, but you would be wrong. The public looks upon a beard as an intrusion upon its domestic tranquility. If Americans had their way, they would shave it off the portrait of Uncle Sam.

In the village where I spend my summers, the comments are friendly but puzzled. Am I trying to become a beatnik? I patiently answer that a man close on to 50, with as much gray as black in his beard, hardly qualifies for that category. Do I want to look more "ary"? I just as patiently reply that Moses, Jesus, General Lee, and President Lincoln all wore beards, and none was considered an esthete.

Is it because I'm too lazy and sloppy to shave? Again I point out that trimming a beard and keeping it neatly shaped is far more trouble than simply shaving the whole face every day. Well, then, am I trying to conceal a weak chin? No, I answer, a double chin.

In this land of presumed individualism, you might imagine that the way a man chooses to wear his hair would be a matter of profound indifference to strangers. Not so. When I used to enter a room clean shaven, I was accepted as just another person. Nowadays, a psychological chain-reaction vibrates through the room: here is somebody alien and different, disturbing and possibly dangerous. Watch this man!

It is only a summertime caprice of mine, and I have promised the children that I would shave it off before returning to the city, if they didn't like the way it looked on me. But I am already quivering before public opinion, and have begun to lie about my reasons for growing it.

Sometimes I say it covers a disfiguring scar from a neck operation. At other times I explain that I am growing it for our village's centennial celebration (which was actually held four years ago). And once I told a less-than-adoring female sitting at the counter next to me, that I was paying off an election bet I had made on Fidel Castro as the next mayor of Miami Beach.

Actually, it is beginning to look pretty darn distingue, and I have already gained a sneaking affection for my beard. But I doubt that I have the strength of character to persist, in the face of snickers, stares, and shrugs of disgust. "Un-American" is the ugly word I sometimes hear whispered behind my back, and I wonder how Uncle Sam would have handled that one.

Kentucky Protecting Value of Black Walnut

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Department of Natural Resources is trying to stem the decreasing supply of black walnut, the most valuable timber species in the state. The department has launched a project to get 1,000,000 seedlings planted this year in hopes the supply will catch up with the demand.

Check Is First Defense Against Breast Cancer

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Please describe the technique used by doctors to examine for lumps or cancer of the breast. If my sister had not known how, she might have lost her life. I think women how they can check for this problem. — Mrs. J. B. L.

If you mean that I have not warned readers not to take chances with a lump, I plead not guilty.

Self-examination is the first line of defense against breast cancer, and there is no adequate substitute for it. Women should be checked by a doctor from every six to 12 months, but they should examine themselves at least once a month. Not every lump will be cancer, but every lump should be reported to the doctor at once.

Without sketches or pictures it isn't easy to explain self-examination, even though it is very simple and requires only a few minutes. Cancer organizations (American Cancer Society and others) have free pamphlets showing and describing how to do it. Some have very effective short motion pictures to show at club or other meetings.

I'll try to sum it up in words: The first step is to stand facing a mirror and to look for any change in configuration of the breasts.

Then lie on your back. Place a folded towel or small pillow under the left shoulder. Keep the left arm down at the side. With the right hand, reach across and explore the outer half of the breast and under the arm. Don't use just finger tips. Use the entire flat area of the fingers.

This part of the examination is extremely important, as nearly half of all breast cancers start in the upper, outer quarter. Up to 15 per cent are in the second most dangerous area, the lower outer quarter.

After the outer half has been checked, raise the left arm over the head, and with the flat of the fingers explore the inner half, from breastbone to nipple. Then move the pillow or pad to under the right shoulder, and examine the right breast with the left hand.

Not only lumps should be sought, but also any puckering or thickening, any discharge from the nipple or any restriction of movement of the breast tissues (which could indicate an attachment to the chest wall).

My repeated advice is never to get panicky if you find any such sign. But don't delay, either. The percentages are strongly in favor of it being something other than cancer, but have it checked at once. The only effective way of curing breast cancer is to find it and have it removed while it is still small.

Dear Dr. Molner: How does one get "cat scratch fever" and how is it treated? Does it leave permanent after-effects? — Mrs. E. G.

As the name implies, it is an infection resulting from being scratched by a cat. Cats at times carry an organism, probably a virus, which afflicts human beings. It is a self-limited disease. Run its course in a week or 10 days, and is not serious. There is so specific treatment for it.

Dear Dr. Molner: What could cause hair to grow under the arms and around the sex organs of a 7-year-old girl? She seems healthy other than having some allergies. Does she need medical attention? She has already noticed that she is different from other children. — Mrs. T. T.

Yes, I think she definitely needs attention. This hair growth suggests a glandular disorder.

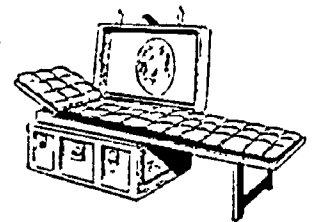

Since you live in a small community, your best move is to have your doctor refer you to an endocrinologist (specialist in whites in the park they should prepare for "the white revolution."

Soon after his talk, rioting white persons roamed the park and hurled bottles and rocks at passing cars of Negroes.

Squads of policemen withdrew to regroup, and when reinforced, swarmed down a hill into the melee. Officers fired shots into the air.

As civil rights leaders prepared to meet tonight to discuss plans for their next demonstration in Chicago, Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., said he would introduce a bill in Congress which would give courts the rights to limit the number of marchers in a civil rights demonstration.

Other Activities

Elsewhere on the racial scene—

More than 3,000 whites at a Ku Klux Klan rally in Raleigh, N.C., jeered a small group of Negroes who sat in on the meeting but helmeted officers kept the session under control.

Six persons, including a Klan security guard, were arrested.

At Detroit, four Negroes charged with inciting to riot in the aftermath of three days of violence pleaded innocent before Recorder's Court Judge John A. Ricca. The judge set a hearing for the four, described by police as members of militant civil rights groups.

Michigan Calm

A relative calm settled over Detroit, Lansing, Ypsilanti and Muskegon, Mich., scenes of outbreaks of violence last week.

Police at Philadelphia, Pa., launched a search for three officials of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, a civil rights group, on warrants charging them with the possession of explosives and conspiracy.

A fourth civil rights worker, Winston Early, surrendered to police and was questioned.

The warrants were issued after four other persons were arrested in police raids of four locations described as meeting places for civil rights groups. Officers said they discovered dynamite sticks in one of the locations.

The officers issued arrest warrants for Fred Meely, Morris Ruffin and George Anderson, all SNCC workers.

In Charlotte, N.C., a Negro man was shot to death and wounded in a residential area. Police charged a white man, Charles W. Willis, 23, with murder and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill. The dead man was Sylvester Patterson, 35.

In Grenada, Miss., police arrested 19 Negroes when First Baptist Church ushers complained the group would not leave after being blocked from entering the church.

A crowd of about 300 young persons jammed an intersection in a predominantly Negro area of Los Angeles and threw rocks, bottles and garbage. The group gathered as police attempted to remove a man standing in the middle of a street blocking traffic, officers said.

In New York, police said a Negro guard at a Far Rockaway, Queens, diner allegedly struck a white man and his pregnant wife with his nightstick, precipitating 20 minutes of insults and punches among a large crowd of Negroes and whites.

Refugees Would Return To Cuba if Castro Leaves, Study Shows

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A survey shows that two of every three Cuban refugees here would return home if Fidel Castro should fall.

The poll, conducted by a research firm for the University of Miami, asked: "If Castro were overthrown, would you be willing to go back to Cuba if you had to start a whole new life again, if you couldn't get back the job, land and possessions you had before the Castro take-over?"

The answers: Yes, 64.5 per cent; No, 14.2 per cent; The rest undecided.

Escaped Pet Ocelot Killed in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A pet ocelot that escaped two weeks ago from his owner in Greenwich Village was shot to death by officers Sunday night about seven blocks from its home.

The 30-pound animal was spotted by searchlights in a backyard after a man called police and told them of a wild animal "with blazing green eyes."

The animal, called Khubla, was owned by Joseph Cicinelli, who had reported the cat missing to the police department and the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The ocelot is an American wildcat with a range from Texas to the Argentine.

Orderly Return

The agreement also provided for "orderly return to work procedures."

This apparently referred to no-reprisal guarantees by the airlines.

The strike so far has cost the airlines an estimated $300 million in revenue losses. The 35,400 strikers and other 30,000 employees who were laid off have lost upwards of $60 million in wages.

Asked whether he viewed the agreement as noninflationary, Reynolds declined to comment "in any way at all."

373 Sorties

Over South Viet Nam Sunday, American pilots flew 373 sorties and claimed they damaged or destroyed 321 Viet Cong huts and other structures and 14 sampans. South Vietnamese pilots flew 80 sorties.

American B52 bombers this morning hit a suspected Communist base camp and headquarters 35 miles west of the coastal city of Quang Ngai.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported an attack Sunday by a battalion of Viet Cong 316 miles northeast of Saigon. Vietnamese infantrymen counterattacked with artillery support and headquarters said they killed 50 Viet Cong while sustaining light casualties themselves.

Sketchy Detail

Only sketchy details were available on the village bombing in the demilitarized zone. It occurred shortly after daybreak Saturday in the southern half of the zone near the coast.

The name of the village is not known. The attack was reported by South Vietnamese army units south of the zone.

3rd Escaped Bank Robber Recaptured

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — An accused Michigan bank robber who escaped jail and survived a gun battle with police was arrested here Friday by sheriff's deputies and FBI agents.

Robert Ross, 35, surrendered peacefully when officers accosted him as he stood outside a motel where he was registered.

Ross, charged with two others in a $33,000 bank robbery at Barky River, Mich., June 27, was captured the following day at Superior Wis., but escaped jail and fled in a stolen car, the FBI said.

Later, at Cartersville, Mo., he shot it out with police and escaped again, although slightly wounded.

Two other men charged in the robbery were arrested Aug. 7 at Seattle, Wash. The FBI said the bank loot was recovered.

Ross and a companion, Jerome O'Neill, 24, were stopped after a break-in the night of July 21 at the high school in Cartersville. O'Neill waived a hearing in Missouri for return to Wisconsin.

Israelis Down Two Syrian Jets

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Two Syrian MIGs were shot down today in a jet battle high over the Sea of Galilee and in a low-level attack on two Israeli patrol boats, an army spokesman said. One of the patrol boats was destroyed by the air attack.

A dispatch from Syria reported a three-hour battle between Syrian border positions and the two patrol boats on the eastern shore of the Sea of Galilee, but there was no mention of any plane losses. An army spokesman in Damascus said the Israeli air force tried to intervene but "our air force was on the alert" and prevented this.

The Israeli spokesman said four MIG 19s swept down to attack a stranded patrol boat and another going to her aid on the northeastern shore.

MOSCOW (AP) — An Israeli diplomat, accused by the Soviet government of espionage and expelled from this country, left today for home.

The Israeli Foreign Ministry said Saturday the Soviet charge against Gavish, second secretary of the embassy, was "completely untrue and unfounded."

—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said in congressional testimony released during the weekend that he has no idea how long the war will last. He also estimated the United States will lose 580 attack aircraft worth $1.2 billion in Vietnamese operations during the current fiscal year. He said 406 attack aircraft were lost in the fiscal year ending June 30, 42 less than estimated.

The defense secretary, vacationing in Oregon, was not on hand for the Johnson-Westmoreland talks which the President said ranged over more than three dozen subjects and continued into the early morning hours.

The testimony made public by the Senate Appropriations Committee during the weekend showed McNamara was asked by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., whether the United States is prepared to confront Red China if Peking decides to enter the war.

"I think the short answer is 'yes,'" McNamara replied. He later said, "If Red China comes in, it is a much different kind of question. We would have to consider use of different weapons."

Worker Pays More In Old Age Benefits Than He Can Collect

NEW YORK (AP) — The Tax Foundation, Inc., says that the payments taken from an employee's checks for old-age benefits will be almost $13,000 more than he could withdraw during retirement.

The foundation reported Sunday that anyone who retires at age 65, after 44 years of working life, will have paid about $32,500 in old-age taxes.

Considering the normal life span after retirement at age 65, the report said, the individual can expect to get back $19,700.

The study also said there is a possibility in many industries that the rise in Social Security tax rates may incline an employer to try to cut his share of the tax bill by using more labor-saving devices.

The foundation is a nonprofit organization which examines the fiscal aspects of government.

DO MOST TEACHERS UNDERSTAND CHILDREN? YES ☐ NO ☐

No, say some authorities. They see them only in terms of some observable trait. "Jane is shy" (Always, or only at school? And if so, why?). "John is pleasant and cooperative" (Do his playmates think so, or is he only trying to win the favor of adults?). When teachers really understand children, they see them in terms of their inner needs and motivations, and the different ways they act under different circumstances. Honored One Misses Boat For Birthday

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The birthday party aboard a Lake Michigan ferry for Larry G. Stone promised to be a splendid event. More than 30 of his friends were there in festive spirit.

It was a shame Stone missed the boat. The ferry pulled out on schedule from the landing en route to Ludington, Mich., Saturday with the party throng hoping for a last-minute appearance by Stone, a Chicago attorney.

"I got lost on the way up," Stone said. "To complicate matters, my wife and I had this huge 25-pound birthday cake in the car. We had to figure a way to get us and the cake on the ferry."

He said he thought of renting a helicopter. He even asked the Coast Guard for help, "but you know regulations."

However, a pilot at a Milwaukee airport agreed to fly the Stones to Ludington. They arrived with the cake - shortly after the ferry docked.

Philip Barnett of Evanston, Ill., one of the party members, said that until the Stones arrived, "it wasn't much of a party."

President's Son Runs Old Summer Theater

Francis Cleveland at 63 Says This Is
His Last Season With Barnstormers

By CARL C. CRAFT
TAMWORTH, N.H. (AP) — One of the nation's oldest straw hat theaters is run here by the son of a former President. But after three decades at it Francis Cleveland, 63, is thinking of retirement.

"It's getting to be too much for me," said Cleveland. "This is going to be my last year at it."

Cleveland said he "not sure how I got interested in the theater, but I like to believe that it happened because my father was a friend of the old actor Joseph Jefferson, who often played Rip Van Winkle.

"They used to go fishing together," near the family's summer home in Tamworth, he said.

Non-Profit Venture
Cleveland's Barnstormers operation is a nonprofit venture, he said. "and $8,000 was raised by public subscription this year.

"The townspeople consider it a fixture, they support it, it brings some tourist business to our community."

Cleveland, who was on the Selectmen for 12 years, has avoided bringing name stars to his summer theater. He has a dozen young professional performers come in for eight weeks.

Local Talent Used
Local residents fill out the cast in minor parts. A typical example is Bronson Shonk, 23, a Philadelphia teacher who was signed on for $10 a week to play the guitar and fill the bit part of a Russian officer.

Shonk had come to town to work on a nearby farm and was recruited for the cast by Cleveland.

Looking back over the years, Cleveland said he took pleasure in seeing some of the Barnstormer alumni go on to theatrical fame. They include Teresa Wright and Arlene Francis, he said.

Cleveland
Cleveland, son of the late President and Mrs. Grover Cleveland, started the Barnstormers in 1931, in this 200-year-old woodland village. He has kept the company, he explains, "the old fashioned type of summer stock, a resident summer theater as opposed to the big star package shows."

Converted Barn
Shirtsleeves rolled elbow high, Cleveland stood in the rear aisle of his theater, a converted barn, and peered across the top of his glasses at the young actors and actresses on stage.

Later in his nearby office he said, "Business is good but it takes somebody younger to keep up with all of it — I can't keep

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7 Channels 4-5 — Chad and Jeremy are hosts of Hullabaloo in a fast-moving session. The English lads sing "Distant Shores" and "Where Would I Be Without You?" and introduce Baby Jane Holzer, darling of New York's pop art society. The Outsiders, Joe Tex, and the Back Porch Majority. (R-Color)

7-7:30 Channels 4-5 — "From Russian With Chaos" on The John Forsythe Show is pretty silly stuff, but you may find yourself laughing anyway. Seems "they" are still out to liquidate Major Foster. Lovely master hypnotist Dr. Nyet (Susanne Cramer), who can knock herself out by looking in the mirror, is assigned the task (R-Color)

7:30-8 Channels 2-12 — Vacation Playhouse bounces along with another unsold TV pilot — "The Hooper." Again, Soupy Sales, the pie-in-the-face comic, heads the cast. Fortunately, his sidekick is Donald O'Connor. The two play down-and-out buck-and-wingers who can't land a booking. Setting for all this are turn-of-the-century vaudeville houses.

8-9 Channels 4-5 — The Summer Music Hall is more energetic than usual. Guests are Gary Lewis and The Playboys, rock 'n' rollers par excellence, and Jacqueline Mayro, who once was Baby June in Broadway's "Gypsy." The boys join host John Davidson in a lively version of "Love Potion Number 9." Miss Mayro is more subdued with, "Hi Lili." (Color)

9-10 Channels 4-5-7 — On Run For Your Life, Carol Lynley, like A Man Called Shenandoah, doesn't know who she is. But she obviously has plenty of money and keeps popping up all over the world under a different name. Ben Gazzara meets and woos her at New Orleans' Mardi Gras. only to lose her. Then he is busy flying all over the world trying to track her down. (R-Color)

9-10 Channels 11-6-9 — The Big Valley concerns Big Mamma's (Barbara Stanwyck) painful pilgrimage to find if Big Daddy loved her more than he did the mother of his illegitimate Big Son (Lee Majors). And it's a Big Bore! One scene is especially embarrassing as she meets with Heath's mammy (Beah Richards) who thinks the boy's long dead mother has "risen from the dead." (R-Color)

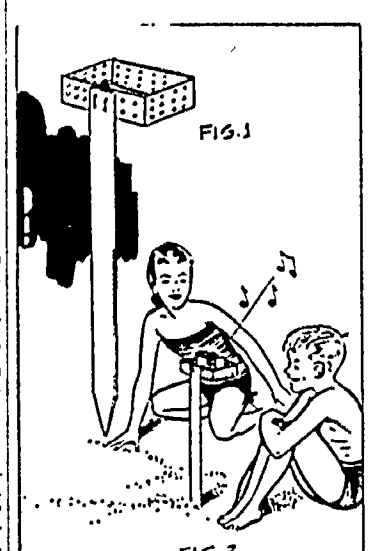

9-10 Channels 2-12 — Hollywood Talent Scouts offers Buddy Ebsen, Andy Griffith, Tina Louise and Pat Boone who have

Make Transistor Holder And Use It at the Beach

BY CAPPY DICK

Today's fun-project is for use at the beach. It's a shelf on which to place your transistor radio to keep it out of the sand. It has other advantages, too.

Use a sturdy box
Find a sturdy cardboard box that is just the right size to hold your radio. Punch holes in it as shown in Figure 1. These will allow any sand that accumulates to sift out.

Also as shown in Figure 1 staple the box to a flat stick that you have whittled to a point at one end so it can be shoved easily into the sand (Figure 2). Place the radio in the box.

If you wish to lie down while listening to the radio, sink the stick deeper into the sand to bring the speaker closer to your ear. If you are listening while sitting up, set the stick so the box is at a higher level. In either case, the radio need not be turned on so loudly that it annoys other persons nearby. This ability to control the height of the radio is one of the advantages of the shelf.

Another is that the shelf makes it less likely you will overlook the radio and leave it behind when you go home. Tuesday: Things to make from shells found at the beach! (Copyright, 1966)

Mrs. Radichel's main dish was a casserole featuring hamburger and cheese.

Lillian Mackesy

Three judges had a field day of tasting six excellent dishes last week at the annual Outagamie Dairy Recipe Cook-off in the kitchens of the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. Once around was not enough, so back again the trio went for comparison and finally found they had a unanimous winner as they compared tally sheets.

Mrs. Alvin Radichel, Hortonville, won first place and the right to represent Outagamie County at the district television cook-off at Green Bay sometime in the fall. Her prize winning dish was Hamburger Cheese Casserole. Second place went to Mrs. Frank Weyers, route 1, Kaukauna, for her Springtime Casserole and third was won by a route 2, Seymour homemaker, Mrs. Laurence Ganzel, whose entry was a Supper Sandwich. The other three contestants were Mrs. Gilbert Laabs, route 2, Hortonville; Mrs. Gerald Schaumburg, route 3, Seymour, and Miss Cheryl Brugger, route 1, Shiocton.

Judges were Mrs. Verne Wilson, home economist from Neenah Vocational School; Lillian Mackesy, Post-Crescent food editor, and restaurateur Milton Arps of Alex's.

In all the years the Dairy Recipe contest has been held in Outagamie County, the final cook-off dishes never have been so uniformly good... and consequently difficult to judge. Each contestant brought a completed dish to the cook-off and also prepared another for the audience and the judges to compare.

All six dishes rated high in taste and flavor... they all qualified as nutritious dishes for family eating... each one used ample dairy ingredients and they were thoughtfully chosen as entries because every one had something special to lift it out of the everyday class without

The three judges had a difficult time choosing three top winners from the six main dishes in the cook-off. being too expensive for the budget or too "far out" in taste. These factors kept the dishes in the competition right up to the last moment.

Another new note in the contest this year was its sponsorship by the Farm Bureau Women of Outagamie County. Committees were planning early under the leadership of Farm Bureau Women's Chairman Mrs. Hilmer Mueller, route 3, Seymour.

The recipes used in last week's final cook-off were all prize winners, chosen from the June Dairy Month contest Thursday's event included the presentation of checks to all six cooks; these were provided by the Farm Bureau Women. The top prizes went to the first three places in the cook-off.

Here are the six main dish recipes and the names of their contest creators.

Republicans Upset Over Housing Bill

Rep. John Rhodes

Feel Rep. Ford Failed to Transmit Party's Feelings

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — One dramatic sign of the House Republican leadership's blundering on the civil rights bill is the fact that it ignored the private appeals of national Republican leaders when it went on record against open housing.

The hard truth is that the party leader, Gerry Ford, could not bring himself to oppose the powerful conservative bloc of older leaders in the House such as Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois, the Republican whip, and lead the moderate civil rights bloc. If he had joined the senior judiciary committee Republican, Rep. William McCulloch of Ohio (no wild-eyed radical by any stretch of imagination), Ford could have swung a solid majority of his party behind the Mathias compromise.

Romney Appeal

But Ford, who became the Republican leader over the impassioned protest of Arends and the older conservatives, would not budge. From Michigan, Gov. George Romney severely appealed against Ford's putting his party on record against open housing.

Similar appeals came from Charles Percy of Illinois, who counts on his own fair-housing stand to help him against Sen. Paul Douglas in November, from Michigan's Sen. Robert Griffin, who faces G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams in another crucial Senate contest this fall, from New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay and Pennsylvania's Gov. William Scranton.

Further, although he's making no public statements about it, Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, a member of the House leadership team and hitherto one of Ford's key lieutenants, pleaded with Ford not to make a party position out of deleting the already watered-down housing section.

Goodell Attacked

According to one well-informed House Republican, Goodell spoke movingly in a closed-door session of the leadership late last week. Although legal ambiguities might support a vote against it on narrow grounds, he said, the national interest — and the party's interest — would never support such a vote. Of all the legitimate grievances of the Negro, said Goodell, housing is the deepest and most emotional.

For voting against the leadership, Goodell was attacked by Rep. Edward J. Derwinski of Illinois, a Goldwater Republican, in full hearing of a half-dozen Republican members on the floor of the House. Derwinski told Goodell he wasn't fit to be a Republican.

Against this sort of pressure from the right, only thinly veiling an expectation of a heavy white backlash vote this fall, Ford was trapped. Instead of striking hard and early for the Mathias compromise, and leading his party with him, Ford allowed his troops to be led blindly to the sea, like the lemmings. Once again, for the sake of possible momentary gain, Republican leaders disregarded the future.

Ex-Reporter Brings Fresh Viewpoint to State Resource Board

BY JOHN WYNGAARD Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — One of the advantages of the infusion of unpaid service by private citizens into the management levels of state government programs is the fresh insight of such men and women on inconsistent methods and practices to which the professional office-holder is so accustomed that he frequently doesn't notice.

Russell G. Lynch, who spent his life time as a reporter and recently retired, is now a member of the resource development board of the state, one of the most important and powerful of the policy-making agencies of the state government. When the subject of organizing administrative districts within the state came up the other day, he asked why the numerous state agencies could not organize field service districts according to a uniform map.

Highway, health, welfare, conservation, law enforcement and many other services follow district administrative patterns, he noted, but frequently they do not conform. A uniform system would be a public convenience, and possibly would save money. Why cannot it be had? Because officials rarely see such things from the fresh viewpoint of Lynch, the comparative outsider.

James Riley, the Eau Claire lawyer, made a hit with his graceful little speech as he was seated as a new member of the board of regents of state colleges. Referring to the fact that he replaced the veteran W. D. McIntyre, who had resigned after many years of service, he said: "It is like following Mickey Mantle in the batting order."

The politicians are aiming their speeches and publicity at a larger potential audience in the Wisconsin campaign than ever before.

Citing the authority of the U.S. Bureau of the Census, Republican state headquarters has reminded its local units that 106,000 Wisconsin residents have reached voting age since the last state-wide partisan elections were held in 1964. They bring the estimated total of Wisconsin voters to 2,422,000. One of the biggest worries of the political professionals is to make effective appeals to the younger voters who will increasingly dominate the electorate.

Persons close to the tourist industry are talking about contriving an economic trend-reporting service, similar to the government-operated crop reporting service, that would provide a reliable gauge to trends in the tourist business which has such a profound importance in many localities, and is one of the key economic foundations of the state as a whole.

The League of Wisconsin Municipalities, the oldest and the largest of the local government service organizations working at the state capital, now has the most comprehensive membership in its history. Its 498 city and village members represent 99 per cent of the eligible population of the state, and slightly above 70 per cent of the state's total population.

The State Bar of Wisconsin is working out another revision of the minimum fee schedule recommended for use by its practicing attorney members which will be published in early fall. The apparent plan is to recommend particular modifications, rather than a total revision.

One of the key veterans in the upper realms of the state government will change desks at the end of the month. J. J. Keliher, who has headed the state department of audit since it was created nearly 20 years ago and has spent his entire professional career as a civil service auditing officer, is the victim of a dismantling of his agency ordered by the legislature recently.

The new law transferring state government auditing to an auditor chosen by the legislature and working under its direction takes effect Sept. 1. Under the terms of the new arrangement and an understanding with Keliher, he will remain in state service as chief of the division of municipal auditing, which was transferred to the department of administration. Thus Keliher will become a subordinate officer after many years as a department chief.

The weight of taxation at all governmental levels may be reflected in the annual policy resolutions of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation, according to background materials sent to locals by the state headquarters. Chances are that the organization will back additional income and sales taxation for the relief of local property taxes, which remain among the most pressing of the economic facts of life for the average Wisconsin farm proprietor.

The federation notes approvingly that the tax revision laws of Wisconsin during recent years have brought down the ratio of property tax levies to all state and local government collections from more than 50 per cent to slightly more than 40 per cent.

When Lou Ceci, the Republican candidate for attorney general, met the capital city press the other day, he declared his intention to challenge the habit of Attorney General Bron-

Blacksmith Thought Safe Couldn't be Moved, but It Could

MUSKEGO (AP)—A 500-pound safe which blacksmith Victor A. Lang said he thought was too heavy to be stolen was taken Thursday from his home. It was $25,000 in life savings.

Lang, 60, told Waukesha County authorities the safe was taken down a flight of eight steps in his home while he was working a block away in his blacksmith shop.

"I never dreamed that anyone could lift it," he said. "It takes some power to move."

son La Follette of issuing informal opinions for the guidance of state agencies, as well as the formal views more familiarly known to the public. But when Ceci walked across the street to meet LaFollette in his office — apparently without an appointment — the attorney general was out. The staff informed Ceci that the informal opinion copies for which he had asked would require some time to assemble.

Gov. Knowles is giving particular attention to the selection of a new circuit judge in the eighth circuit of northwestern Wisconsin. Reason: that is where he spent his own professional career as a lawyer, and knows every practitioner and candidate intimately.

Two-Timers' Wives Answer Letter of Unforgiving Woman

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR READERS: A woman who signed herself "Unforgiving in Klamath Falls" wanted to know if it was worth the pain and the humiliation to stick with a "two-timing skunk." She asked to hear from wives who have lived through it. I agreed to print the letters if the wives would write them.

Well — they wrote! I've never had such heavy response to a letter in all the years I've been writing this column. Here is a sampling of the mail:

From Buffalo: I decided to stick with my husband even though I caught him with my best friend. I became so ill I had to be under a doctor's care, but I was determined to keep my marriage together. And I succeeded. How? By giving him the second chance he begged for and vowing never to mention the affair again so long as I lived. That nightmare was 28 years ago. We now have eight grandchildren and a truly good life together. Yes, it does pay to forgive.

Butte, Montana: I'm a wife who forgave and forgot and I thank God I was able to do it. When I learned my husband was carrying on with his secretary it almost killed me but I decided to put my children's welfare ahead of my wounded pride. We now have a fine family, a respected place in the community and a happy home.

Fort Lauderdale: I stayed with a two-timing skunk and it DIDN'T pay off. I kept telling myself I had to put on a good front so the children wouldn't find out. I learned years later that the children knew all along. They were putting on a good front so I wouldn't find out. I am 53 years old now. My looks are gone and there is nothing but a wall of ice between us. I wish I had thrown the bum out 25 years ago.

Los Angeles: Two can play that cheating game. It's not for men only. My wife used to dream up the weirdest excuses for leaving me and the kids at night. Then I found a letter she had started to write. It said, "Dearest Darling: The minute the plane left for San Diego I missed you." No man with self-respect can forgive and forget when his wife runs around with half the fleet. I just hope she takes good care of the kids. They are sweet and innocent. And mine. I think.

Morristown, N.J.: I'm a wife who nearly lost a wonderful man to an adulterous, gum-chewing tramp. "Unforgiving" wrote that her husband asked for a divorce just before Christmas. I wonder what the tramp gave her husband for Christmas that his wife didn't. My husband asked for a divorce on my 33rd birthday. I nearly went into shock. But for the first time in my life I took a good look at myself. I had to admit I wasn't much to come home to. I had gained 30 pounds in ten years. I was so busy with my kids, my clubs, my garden and my mother that my house never looked right. The meals were lousy. I was too tired and too irritable to be even half a wife, let alone a decent companion. Instead of calling him names I accepted my share of the blame and it was I who asked for another chance. We are a happy family now and it was a little tramp who taught me one of the most valuable lessons of my life.

Ottawa: Since you know all the answers, Ann, please tell me how does a wife tell the difference between a reformed chaser and a worn-out old man? I'm sorry I stuck. Today I'm his nurse and housekeeper.

Dear Readers: You've heard only half of it. Tomorrow some teen-agers express their views about a cheating father.

Army Nurse Corps Seeks New Recruits

The Army Nurse Corps has announced the need for additional nurses. The need, emphasized by Sgt. Charles Grissman at the Army Recruiting Office, is not for nurses to be sent to Viet Nam, but to serve the increasing number of American military men in this country and in nations abroad.

While the Army nurse does care for American soldiers all over the world, this is only part of her work. The Army supplies nursing care to the entire military community, and the type of service rendered by the Army nurse is much the same as one would expect in a progressive civilian hospital. Among patients of the Army nurse are wives and children of military personnel and retired Army members and their dependents.

In order to interest women in Army nursing, and to provide the soldier and his family with the best medical service, the Army provides its nurses with opportunities to continue their education and advance in their professions. Each is encouraged to take advanced training in a clinical specialty of her choice, with courses offered in such fields as anesthesiology, neuropsychiatry, obstetrics and pediatrics. Women are also helped to qualify as head nurses, instructors and supervisors. Each year a number of Army nurses receive tuition, pay and allowances while studying for undergraduate or graduate degrees in civilian schools.

Girls already in nursing school may qualify to receive financial aid to help complete or advance their education by being accepted for one of four educational plans of financial assistance offered by the Army. They may continue their studies at the schools of their choice, be paid while they study, and then serve as an Army nurse after their education is completed.

Shopping Center Planned for 'Strip' West of Appleton

K-Mart Corp. Has Taken Option On Land in Town of Grand Chute

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Another shopping center is being planned for the burgeoning commercial strip on W. College Avenue in the Town of Grand Chute, The Post-Crescent learned today.

The exact location of the proposed development has not been disclosed, but it will be west of the viaduct on the north side of the avenue.

A town official confirmed today that the K-Mart Corp. had contacted them about four months ago to obtain information on town growth and utilities, and has since taken an option on a large tract of land.

Part of the K-Mart Corporation's plan calls for the construction of a discount center, it was learned. The firm is not expected to announce complete development plans until several transactions have been consummated.

One project tying in with the proposed shopping center is extension of a service road which parallels the north side of the avenue from the viaduct west.

The Town of Grand Chute and K-Mart have petitioned the Wisconsin Public Service Commission for permission to further extend the road so that K-Mart can build east of Lynndale Drive and north of W. College Avenue.

Establishment of a grade crossing over the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. tracks and the extended service road is included also in the petition before the PSC.

Scheduled Public Hearing The commission has scheduled a public hearing on the petition for Aug. 29 at the Outagamie County Courthouse, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

On Aug. 16, 1965, the commission granted the petition of the Town of Grand Chute for establishing a grade crossing at Lynndale Drive extended and the railroad tracks.

"The Public Service Commission already has considerable data concerning the area in question," Atty. Don Herring, the town's legal counsel said today. "We are optimistic that the request will be granted."

Herring said "town officials also are pleased" another development is about to take shape in the town's commercial area.

Northside Merchants Quizzed for Planning

Merchants on Appleton's northside are participating in a survey with the data to be used by city and regional planners who have been asked to prepare a plan for that business district. The Northside Advancement Association, Inc., has sent questionnaires to all its members seeking a variety of information, according to Edgar J. Quevillion, president.

"The association is making a survey of the growth and planning of the Northside business," Quevillion wrote members. "To be of service to you, it is necessary we have your expression of ideas concerning the needs and future growth of your business."

50 Drivers Compete in First State Tractor Pull Contest

800 Spectators at Shiocton See Test of Power and Skill Sunday

SHIOCTON — Billows of black smoke, stench of smoldering rubber tires and sputtering engines filled the air at the first Wisconsin state tractor pulling contest Sunday at the Shiocton Speedway Sunday.

About 50 tractors from the state were entered in six classes providing main competition during the afternoon. Separate competition for women and boys and girls followed regular competition.

Tractors strained against the weight of stone boats until they could no longer maintain their grip on the asphalt covering and churned away without moving forward.

Experience showed in the performance of the drivers, as those who had competed before got distance where the inexperienced soon spun out.

A crowd estimated between 800 and 1,000 persons gathered to observe the event.

Boats Hooked Up

A 200-foot pulling lane was laid out in front of the grandstand. Two "boats" were hooked to the tractors. The smaller carried a set amount of weight for each class (usually one of the tractors from the next lower class.)

The larger boat was mounted

Withdraw Pickets At Litho-Printing

MENASHA — Pickets in front of the Earl Litho-Printing firm on Midway Road were withdrawn Saturday after final contract terms were agreed upon.

Local 88-L Lithographers and Photoengravers, AFL-CIO, struck the firm July 7 after agreements over a new three-year contract could not be reached.

The contract drawn up after the final agreements were reached Thursday afternoon, must now be signed by union officials, according to John Wylie, attorney for Homer Earl, employer.

Workers are expected to be called back to work this week, Wylie said. The employer signed the contract Saturday through his attorney.

Bible School Starts At Faith Lutheran.

"My Savior and I" is the theme of a two-week, 10-day vacation Bible school, which began today and will run from 9 to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday at Faith Lutheran Church.

The Rev. Henry Simon, pastor, will serve as school superintendent, assisted by Mrs. Daniel Knowlton in the lower departments.

Orville Freiberg has been named business manager. A staff of more than 70 teachers and assistants has been organized. Workers include adults and high school people.

Lessons will include study of highlights in the life of Christ, lesson-related handicraft materials for the lower departments, films, singing and devotions.

Danger to Swimmers

Vandalism Causes Halt To Quarry Supervision

BRILLION — Vandals wrecked facilities at the lime kiln swimming pool sometime after 4 p.m. Friday, resulting in a shut-down of supervised swimming at the quarry for the remainder of the summer.

The decision to close was made by Lee Schuff, summer recreation director and pool supervisor, and Carl Martens, chairman of the city's park and recreation commission.

This was the third vandalism report of the summer "and the worst," according to Schuff, who discovered the damage Saturday afternoon.

A $140 "mini-tramp," a small Trampoline used for diving, was disassembled and its parts were thrown into the water.

"All 28 springs are missing and a new center pad which I installed on the mini-tramp Friday is gone," Schuff said.

400-Pound Stand

Also thrown into the water were two lifeguard stands, two park benches and two trash barrels.

One of the life guard chairs, which weighs 400 pounds with concrete base, was lugged approximately 50 feet before being dumped into 20 feet of water.

Schuff and lifeguard Jim Sioma worked with a wrecker tractor would make it completely through the course, and then repeat its run after additional weight was added to the tractor it was pulling. The added weight usually was about one ton.

Each entrant paid a fee of $10 which was returned in the form of prize money to the top four finishers. The payoff included all of the entry fees in the class, plus one-sixth of the gate.

A total of $670 was paid to the 24 entrants who won prizes.

Examine Tractors

The event not only gave area farmers a chance to observe various makes of tractors in a test of pulling power but also to examine them and talk to dealers.

John Breuch, Waunakee, made two perfect runs through the 200-foot course in the 12,000-pound No. 5 class before finally stubbing out at 192-11 in his third run, still good for first place.

Jerry Kramer, Kenosha, turned in a perfect score in the 16,000 pound event. Ken Obermer, Shiocton, was the only other driver to make it through the entire course, covering the distance in the class four, 9,000 pound event.

Scores were:

Class I (4,500 pounds) — 1.

Ambulance on Emergency Run Hit by Truck

Aide of Lindy's in Serious Condition; Other Driver Injured

Two persons, including an ambulance aide, were injured about 11:10 a.m. today when the ambulance, on an emergency run, was struck broadside by a 10½-ton cement truck at Washington and Oneida streets.

Seriously injured in the crash was Arthur Krock, about 70, 1330½ S. Oneida St., an employee of Lindy's Ambulance Service of Appleton. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital with face, nose and arm injuries plus possible internal injuries. The extent of his injuries had not been determined by early afternoon.

Also taken to the hospital was Clarence Beyer, 23, route 3, Appleton, driver of the cement truck owned by Schabo Materials, Inc. He complained of back and hip injuries. Beyer and Krock were taken to St. Elizabeth by a second Lindy's Ambulance which was summoned to the scene.

Siren Operating

Appleton police said the ambulance, driven by Leon Sternhagen, about 23, who lives on Harriman Street, was northbound on Oneida Street, with the red light and siren operating. The ambulance was en route to 515 E. Brewster St., where a woman had collapsed.

The cement truck was westbound on Washington, with the green light in its favor, police said. Krock was seated on the passenger side on the front of the 1959 model ambulance.

The ambulance was struck in the center on the right side. The side was damaged and both side doors were ripped off.

The crash sent the ambulance across the intersection and into a traffic light on the southwest corner. The light and post were broken off.

The front of the truck was damaged extensively.

Two Hospitalized After Mishap on N. Oneida Street

Two 19-year-old Appleton residents were taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital about 1:15 a.m. today after a car they were in left N. Oneida Street near Byrd Street and clipped off a utility pole.

Appleton police said Thomas P. Lodholz, 507 E. McArthur St., driver of the car, sustained lip and nose lacerations, while his passenger, Lynn Cordier, 621 N. Superior St., sustained nose and knee injuries. They were taken to the hospital by car.

Police said the car traveled off the street on the left side, went half a block down a sidewalk and terrace before it struck the utility pole.

When the pole snapped off, wires were pulled from the Roy Beattie home, 102 W. Marquette St. Some damage to the home also was reported, police said.

Woman Collapses

Appleton firemen were called to 515 E. Brewster St., about 11:11 a.m. today after Amy Hoffman, 70, collapsed in her back yard.

She was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital by the rescue squad.

Claims Present Appleton Rate Has Reached Point Where It is 'Barely Endurable' to Taxpayers

Mayor George Buckley today called on all Appleton department heads, board of education and other municipal agencies, to push for economy in drawing up 1967 budget requests.

The city's overall budget for 1965 was $11,926,541 which called for a gross tax of $52.15, or a net rate of $46.48 when subtracting the state sales tax credit refund.

Finance Director Henry Schreve recently asked the various departments, boards, commissions and agencies to send him a copy of their preliminary requests.

"Bare Bones"

The city council's finance committee, which serves as budget examining committee, also has indicated it will be shooting for "a bare bones" budget for the coming year.

Buckley wrote department heads and said the time is approaching for them to submit requests to the budget committee.

"I wish to take advantage of this opportunity to remind you that our 1963 tax rate of $46.65 rose to $50.06 in 1964 and an all-time high of $52.15 in 1965," Buckley said.

(The net rates for 1963 and 1964 were $42.50 and $46.56, respectively, after subtracting the sales tax credit refund.)

"It is my opinion," Buckley said, "that our present rate has reached a point where it is barely endurable to the average Appleton taxpayer."

"It is my recommendation that consideration be given to all the wage earners in our city and people living on pensions or social security benefits. 'These people,' he said, 'cannot continue to absorb annual tax increases without sacrificing some of the necessities of life.'"

Mayor Buckley said he was urging all departments to keep these things in mind when working on budgets.

"I respectfully ask that the utmost discretion be exercised in order that we may have continued progress in Appleton," Buckley continued.

The mayor also advised he would be happy to meet with department heads at any time to discuss problems that may arise in connection with budget preparation.

Buckley said a copy of his letter was sent to Supt. of Schools William Spears to call to the attention of the Appleton School Board.

For 1965 the school board had a $3,874,946 operational budget, along with school indebtedness payments amounting to $1,088,584.

Congress Taking Look At Product Warranties

Awards Received By Fond du Lac, Sheboygan Court

MONTREAL (AP) — Awards for outstanding accomplishments by U.S. cities, counties and judicial districts in traffic court procedures and administration have been announced by the American Bar Association. Sheboygan, Wis., County Court, Branch Two, and Marshfield, Wis., received honorable mention awards in their respective population groups. Fond du Lac County traffic courts received a special commendation for continuance of efforts to maintain better practices and procedures. The awards were announced during the ABA's annual convention, here this week. The top award in the 750,000 to 1,000,000 population group went to the Dade County, Fla., metropolitan court for the sixth consecutive year.

If an appliance is guaranteed only for "normal" use, how do you know how much and what kind of use is "normal?"

A bill that almost surely won't pass at this session of Congress was recently introduced in the House by Congressman Jonathan B. Bingham (D-N.Y.) to clarify and simplify the whole fuzzy business of guarantees and warranties on a burgeoning range of consumer products. But just because it has been introduced, it is stimulating a new look at warranty policies by many of the nation's manufacturers and retailers, particularly electrical appliance makers and dealers. It also is encouraging stores to make instant replacement of defective products at the store counter.

Details of Bill
Moreover, the details of the Bingham bill help guide us to what we should find out, on our own, about any guarantee or warranty of any product. Specifically:
—The exact duration of the guarantee;
—The exact name and address of whoever is making the guarantee;
—The conditions of the guarantee—e.g., whether it provides for replacement or repairs; whether the entire product is guaranteed or only certain parts; whether the buyer must mail in a special warranty card before the warranty is valid; whether he must keep the original box if the product is to be replaced through the guarantee; whether the product is to be used only for certain purposes under the guarantee; whether it must undergo special inspections to make the guarantee good.
—Exactly how much the buyer would be expected to pay for parts, labor, handling, shipping costs, etc.

Even assuming a major clarification in this area of guarantees and warranties, though, let's face these cold facts. No law will relieve us of the enormous nuisance of re-wrapping a "guaranteed" gizmo, trundling it across town to a repair agency, filling out special forms, waiting weeks or months before the product is returned. None will eliminate the mumbo-jumbo in many instruction booklets attempting to define the "proper" operation of a product upon which the guarantee depends, or to define such vague terms as "normal" use. None will touch the problem of the appliance which fizzles out the day after its warranty expires. Finally, let's never forget the coldest fact of all: Today's guarantee still is only as good as its guarantor.

Permit Issued for $40,000 Apartment At New London
NEW LONDON — A building permit has been issued to Schneider Construction Co., New London, for construction of a $40,000, four-unit apartment building on the east end of Washington Street. A similar permit was issued about a year ago to Schneider for construction of a apartment on the same site. Both apartment buildings are owned by Elmer Dexter.

102,000 North Vietnamese Estimated to Have Infiltrated

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The South Vietnamese government says 102,500 North Vietnamese combat troops and support battalions have infiltrated into South Viet Nam. These figures are far in excess of U.S. intelligence estimates, which put the maximum number of North Vietnamese in the south at about 54,000. Most of the North Vietnamese came down the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos, intelligence sources say, but they add that at least three regiments from the 324B Division are known to have infiltrated through the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam, and there may have been others. The Ho Chi Minh trail has many branches. Some lead off to enemy positions in the north. Others enter the central highlands regions near Pleiku through Laos or Cambodia. And despite Cambodian denials, the South Vietnamese believe Cambodian soil is used for infiltration as far south as the region west of Saigon. In a chart just released to the Saigon press, the Saigon government says 85,000 North Vietnamese infiltrated up to the end of 1965.

Six Valley Men Start Active Duty

Naval Reservists Will be Called Within 10 Months

Six Appleton area naval reservists are starting two-year active duty tours with regular Navy forces this month. Lt. Comdr. D. J. Hewitt, commanding officer of Naval Reserve Surface Division 9-9, Appleton, said today.

They are the first of 30 members of the Appleton unit and more than 150 Fox Valley Naval Reservists who will be called to active duty in the next 10 months, Hewitt said. The other reservists scheduled for two-year duty tours are assigned to Naval Reserve training centers in Oshkosh and Green Bay.

Most of the local reserves will report to the U.S. Naval Station, Philadelphia, for outfitting and classification prior to assignment to ships or shore stations. Others will be assigned directly to the Navy's Class A training schools for further technical training.

Appleton Men Seaman Phillip M. Weber, 1804 W. Pine St., Appleton, has been assigned to San Diego, Calif., to attend basic electricity and radioman schools. Reporting to the Naval Receiving Station, Philadelphia for assignment, is Seaman Daniel P. Saegert, 421 Fifth St., Neenah; Lee M. Fails, 128 E. North Water, Neenah; Lonnie E. Krueger, 323 S. Pearl St., New London; Gilbert Foster, 1101 E. Francis St., Appleton; and Kenneth Groeschel, 1921 W. Haskell St., Appleton.

Currently approximately 25 per cent of the Navy's manpower needs are being supplied by two-year naval reservists, Lt. Comdr. Hewitt said. The reserves receive one year of training at local training centers, including four weeks at the recruit training and ashore-afloat schools at Great Lakes, Ill., before starting active duty tours.

Strike Grounds Guitarist

Bass Virtuoso Gary Karr Rescues Festival Concert From Disaster

BY JACK RUDOLPH Post-Crescent News Service

FISH CREEK — Double bass virtuoso Gary Karr came galloping to the rescue (in a Lincoln convertible) in the finest horse opera tradition here Sunday to convert incipient disaster into a cheerful triumph for the middle weekend of the Peninsula Music Festival. Rushing up from Madison to replace guitarist Rey de la Torre, Karr lifted a semi-somnolent audience and a tense orchestra out of the doldrums.

Guitarist Rey de la Torre spent his scheduled Sunday afternoon concert date twiddling his thumbs somewhere on the eastern seaboard. Thanks to Gary Karr, he wasn't missed. There was some expressed disappointment beforehand that the airline strike had grounded De la Torre, but once Karr began to play it was forgotten. Karr, answering a frantic appeal from Madison where he is spending the summer, stepped into the breach with a fantastic display of his virtuosity on the double bass.

It was a happy ending to a somewhat spotty weekend that also featured an important world premiere and a guest appearance Saturday by mezzo-soprano Martha Lipton.

No Indifference What is probably the most important, and certainly a most interesting, commission to be premiered since Wallingford Riegger's "Dance Rhythms" in 1955 drew a mixed but guardedly favorable reaction Saturday night. Not everyone liked the piece (many disliked it vehemently) but nobody was indifferent.

The Festival orchestra's careful, animated performance of its former tympanist's work stole a lot of the spotlight from the appearance of former Met mezzo Martha Lipton. Miss Lipton was guest artist for the evening

Appleton Religious Orders Included in Glueckstein Estate

OSHKOSH — A general inventory of the estate of Hildegard Glueckstein, who died here April 30, indicated some $234,290 subject to inheritance tax.

Her will and a codicil directed that the estate be divided into four parts. One-half is to go to the Sacred Heart Seminary at Oneida and a quarter to the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, Green Bay.

The remaining quarter of the estate is to be shared one fourth equally by the province of St. Joseph Capuchin Order, the Franciscan Sisters of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, both of Appleton, and the Sisters of the Sorrowful Mother at Marian Home, Oshkosh.

The residue is to go into a trust to be managed by the Appleton State Bank and to provide $200 a month each for a brother, Msgr. Joseph P. Glueckstein, Kaukauna, and two sisters, Olive Glueckstein, Milwaukee, and Christine Glueckstein, Kaukauna.

Funds remaining in the trust after their deaths are to be given to the Green Bay Catholic Diocese.

as recipient of this year's Vera Wardner Dougan award.

In the deepening twilight of a full and distinguished career, Miss Lipton no longer has the glowing vocal opulence of youth. What she does possess to an impressive degree are the price-less strength of experience and the artistic integrity of a major leaguer.

She must conserve resources now but does it so well the big tones are there when she needs them, albeit they don't come easily. Her adroit technique was something of a revelation to an audience accustomed to young singers on the rise who have power and tone to squander.

Portuguese Love Song Her programmed arias were technically superb but handicapped by lack of audience familiarity with their context. Miss Lipton was at her finest in the delightful Portuguese love song "The Bluebird," with which she closed the program.

Karr's shot of musical adrenalin included a most enjoyable performance of the Dvorak Suite. Here, oboist James Caldwell (continuing to score points as the workhorse of the Festival to date) made a beautiful contribution, although he received sterling assistance in the "Romance" movement from oboe associate Catherine Paulu. Impressive as was Karr's artistry he owed a heavy debt to an orchestra that demonstrated the highest standards of professionalism. Although the ensemble didn't even see his accompanying music until a few hours before curtain time, it played practically at sight, as if it had been working on the stuff for days.

WSU-O Gets Grant

OSHKOSH — The Wisconsin State University - Oshkosh chemistry department has been named recipient of a $500 grant by the Dow Chemical Co., according to an announcement by H. Giel of the firm's analytical laboratory.

The grant has no restrictions as to its use, according to Dr. Gilbert Pollnow, chairman of the WSU-O chemistry department. A 1966 graduate of WSU-O, John M. Bostwick, formerly of Port Washington and Fond du Lac, recently joined the Dow Chemical Co., in the saran development department, according to Richard Turzanski, university placement director.

Nelson Urges Financing For Co-ops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson D - Wis., today urged prompt congressional action on a bill to provide a new system of financing for rural electric and telephone cooperatives.

The legislation would establish a $1-billion loan bank that would be built up over 15 years with payments on REA loans now outstanding.

The cooperatives would repay the funds. Interest on loans from the bank would be at an intermediate level of 3 per cent and move eventually to regular market rates of 4 per cent or more, Nelson said.

"This proposal to provide a non-government source of long-term credit to rural electric and telephone cooperatives is vital to the economic growth of our rural areas," Nelson said. He termed the plan "the most crucial issue affecting these rural programs since the original REA act was passed 30 years ago."

State's Lawmen Plan Safety Push

Outagamie, Waupaca Sheriffs Will Join in Further Planning

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — Leaders of two state law enforcement groups started preliminary planning on a safety program to combat the mounting death toll on the highways of the state when they met here Friday.

Following the meeting of the board of directors of the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association and the executive committee of the Wisconsin County Traffic Officers, Deputy Sheriffs and Radio Operators Association, a telegram was sent to Gov. Warren Knowles informing him that the joint group will have a complete program by 1967.

Waupaca County Sheriff Loran Frazier and Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice are members of the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association board of directors.

Second Meeting Set
Further work on drawing up the program will be done at an Aug. 25 meeting of the two groups. The site of this meeting has not been named at this time, Frazier said.

The telegram sent to the governor listed eight points. They are:

—“We recognize that additional laws are necessary in order to cope with grave highway traffic problems.”

—“We have appealed for them at past sessions of the Legislature and will have a complete program by 1967.”

—“We appeal for more intensive enforcement of present traffic laws at all levels, state and local. We also have appealed for more funds to increase local and county traffic law enforcement.”

“Recognize Urgency”
—“As county law enforcement officers, we recognize the immediate urgency of appeals now being made by the governor and other law enforcement groups as well as the newspapers, TV and radio in “Operation Stay Alive.”

—“The governor has drawn in the state agencies to intensify their efforts to head off the rising traffic toll.”

—“The sheriffs, deputy sheriffs and county traffic officers have in the past and will continue in the future to enforce traffic laws 24 hours per day.

We are dedicated to this duty and will continue to do so.”
—“The Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association and the County Traffic Officers Association represent the greatest number of lawmen in the highway traffic law enforcement field. We appeal for cooperation of all in this effort to stop the useless and unnecessary automobile accidents and the death and suffering caused thereby.”

—“If we are to accomplish any real results it will require more than the efforts of the law enforcement officers on the highways. It will require the cooperation of the prosecutors, the courts, and local attorneys — but much more the cooperation and better driving habits of the motoring public.”

Winnebago Board To Act on Bonding For Airport Expansion

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County Board members will take final action Tuesday on a $933,000 bond issue for construction at the Winnebago County Airport.

A special meeting of the board has been called for 9:15 a.m. to act on the final resolutions. The regular board session will then start at 9:30 a.m.

Resolutions to be presented at the special session will detail the form and content of the bonds and for the sale procedure.

The $933,000 is in addition to $500,000 previously appropriated the first appropriation was used to start the project which includes a new north-south runway, an overlay on the east-west runway and extension of the present north-south runway to use as a taxiway.

The total cost for the new runway project is a little more than $2 million. The county's share is $1,083,000. The state is providing $30,000 and the federal government will pay $973,000. In addition, the county is providing $150,000 for the runway overlay and the state $30,000.

Clarence F. Koehler, left, Weyauwega, and Frank Klapper, center, Appleton, were honored Saturday night for long service with Production Credit Association of Appleton. Awards were given to the two men by Robert C. Schroeder, right, of Appleton. Koehler, president since 1952, has been with Production

Town of Neenah Leads Winnebago Valuation Hike

OSHKOSH — Preliminary assessed valuations of three of the 10 towns which have filed figures with County Clerk Dorothy Propp are down from a year ago as the result of decreases in personal property assessments.

Three of the towns have indicated a sizeable increase in assessed valuation and the other four show smaller increases.

The Village of Winneconne also shows an increase in assessed value.

As expected, the towns surrounding the metropolitan areas in the county are showing the largest gains in assessed valuation.

Of those filed, the Town of Neenah has the greatest increase, followed by the Town of Oshkosh and the Town of Algoma. The Town of Menasha has not yet filed its figures.

Showing decreases in assessed valuation are the towns of Nekimi, Rushford and Nepeuskun.

Winnebago Fair Opens Wednesday

OSHKOSH — With buildings painted and refurbished and lawns manicured to perfection, Winnebago County Fairgrounds is nearly ready for Wednesday and the beginning of the five days and nights of the 1966 fair and exposition.

From her home across from the fairgrounds, Mrs. Walter Stromme phoned Fair Secretary Robert Misky last week. In her 38 years of residence across from the fair, never have the grounds looked more spruce and attractive, she told Misky.

Saturday, the fairgrounds crew was putting up the stage in front of the grandstand. Decorators were hard at work in the new exposition building and elsewhere on the grounds, preparing for some 90 booths reserved by commercial exhibitors.

Misky said the exposition building is complete except for details of wiring. “Every corner of it has been reserved for fair exhibits,” he declared. The new building replaces an exposition hall which burned hours after the 1965 fair closed.

Youth Day
Wednesday, opening day of the fair, is youth day, but in reality the entire five-day event is a salute to the county's young people and their achievements. Except for commercial displays, exhibits of foods, crops, livestock and skills are those of young people.

On display will be the best of the year's projects by 4-H members. Future Farmers of America and Future Homemakers of America.

Judging of foods, child care, home furnishing, dairy crops, food preservation and poultry are slated for Wednesday morning. Television's Col. Caboose and his talent show will be grandstand entertainment in shows at 1 and 7:30 p.m.

In Chicago, Aug. 22-23

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP) — “I don't believe what our government tells us about America. I'm sure life in America is good.”

The young man speaking was Ahmed, an engineer from Soviet Azerbaijan living in Tashkent. A wiry man with a moustache, he was walking down Pravda Vostoka Street on a warm summer evening with his wife and an American visitor.

“I would like to see America,” Ahmed said. “I hear the girls are pretty.”

Prefer Homeland
Olga, his Russian wife, frowned, tucked in a strand of her long blonde hair, and commented: “I would never want to go to America, not even to visit.”

“Why not?” the American asked.

“I prefer my homeland. I'm happy here.”

“You are narrow-minded,” her husband said, half playfully. “Me, I would like to visit America.” To the visitor: “Tell us about your country. We want to know.”

The American had met the young couple at a rooftop restaurant here in Soviet Central Asia. Over a dinner of shashlik—lamb roasted on a spit—they had invited him to a movie. Now, as he walked with them toward the open-air theater, they listened to his description of life at home.

Live Well
“You see?” Ahmed said. “I told you. The people in America live well.”

“But,” said Olga, “there is widespread unemployment there. In our country there is no unemployment.”

“Unemployment is a problem at home,” the American replied, “but it's not widespread—only four per cent of the labor force. Sometimes there are less jobs than applicants and the better qualified man gets the job.”

“Capitalism,” Olga said. “It is too bad America could not be socialist like us,” Ahmed said. “But that idea of the better qualified man getting ahead—that makes sense.”

American Bombing
After a pause, Olga asked: “Why is America bombing innocent people in Viet Nam?”

The visitor gave what he felt was a fair picture of the war, including Viet Cong terrorism and problems left over from French colonial days.

He mentioned U.S. domestic criticism of the war—noting that Americans were free to criticize their government—and referred to the U.S. government position that Communists were the aggressors.

Rights Problem
Olga said nothing. But later she asked: “Why do you let the racists oppress the Negroes?”

She listened politely to his version of the civil rights problem. Again she made no reply.

“Do the American people want peace?” Ahmed asked.

“Yes.”

“So do we. Ah, if only our two countries could get together. It is the fault of the governments on both sides. Neither side trusts the other.”

Angels, White Sox Split 4-0 Decisions; Coates Gives 4 Hits

Watt Pitches, Bats Orioles to 6-0 Win Over Senators; Twins Lose 2

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox convinced Jim Coates he was a major league pitcher seven years ago.

They proved it again Sunday — the hard way.

Coates, rescued from the minors last week by the California Angels, beat Chicago 4-0 with a brilliant four-hitter in his first appearance of the season and first major league start in three years.

The 34-year-old right-hander's route-going victory gave the Angels a doubleheader split with the Sox, who had taken the opener 4-0 behind Gary Peters' four-hitter.

First Pivotal Victory
In 1959, when Coates pitched with the New York Yankees, the White Sox were the victims in the first pivotal victory of his stormy career. "I knew I could pitch in the big leagues after that one," he recalls. "I gave them only three hits, all singles, and we beat Early Wynn 3-1."

Coates won 15 of his first 16 big league decisions in 1959-60 but began to slip the following year and eventually was traded to Washington. He drifted to Cincinnati, then to the Angels, who sent him to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League last spring.

There, he won 11 games and was involved in one of baseball's wildest brawls. On May 11 he hit Vancouver's Richard Joseph with a pitch and the ensuing free-for-all resulted in serious injury to Seattle catcher Merritt Ranew and the suspension of Vancouver pitcher Rosario Santiago.

Punched In Face
The next day, Joseph encountered Coates in a hotel lobby and punched him in the face, breaking four teeth.

Coates would like to forget the incidents. He is determined to start a new career in the majors. "I'm back again, and I'm going to stay as long as I can," he said.

Elsewhere in the American League Sunday, Kansas City, New York and Boston swept doubleheaders while Baltimore blanked Washington 6-0 in a single game. The Athletics trimmed Minnesota 5-0 and 4-3; the Yankees beat Cleveland 7-3 and 6-4, and the Red Sox upended Detroit 8-5 and 5-3.

Coates held the White Sox hitless until the fifth and never was in serious trouble in launching his comeback bid.

"He pitched like a man who wants to stay in the majors," marveled Chicago pilot Eddie Stanky. "I hate to see that kind of performance against my team but I have to admire the man. More power to him."

Johnstone Gets 3 Hits
Rookie Jay Johnstone collected three hits and scored three runs, pacing the Angels' attack.

In the first game, Peters retired 21 straight hitters in one stretch while breezing to his 10th victory. Tommie Agee provided the offensive spark with a two-run homer in the sixth.

Jim Nash, Kansas City's unbeaten rookie, scattered three hits before being replaced by Jack Aker in the ninth and won his seventh in a row since coming up from the minors last month as the A's ended a four-game losing string in the opener at Minnesota.

Phil Roof's two-run single climaxed a three-run rally in the seventh inning that pulled the A's from behind in the second game.

Capitalize On 6 Errors
The Yankees capitalized on six Cleveland errors — all in the fourth inning — for four unearned runs and the nightcap victory after taking the first game behind Dooley Womack's one-hit relief pitching over the last five innings.

Tony Conigliaro socked a three-run homer, then singled and scored the deciding run as Boston completed its sweep behind right-hander Lee Stange. Homers by Carl Yastrzemski and Don Demeter paced the Red Sox in the opener.

The Orioles increased their league lead to 13½ games over Detroit as Frank Robinson hit a pair of homers — his 35th and 36th. Boog Powell and pitcher Eddie Watt also homered, and Watt allowed only two hits before giving way to Gene Brabender in the ninth.

Browns' Kelly and Robert Run Wild; Brodie Set to Play

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An old song takes on a new meaning in the camp of the San Francisco 49ers this week.

"Has anybody here seen Kelly?" went the lyrics, and Coach Jack Christiansen will be asking his kicking team the same question in reviewing pictures of the 49ers' 28-17 loss to the Cleveland Browns.

Leroy Kelly ran one punt back 87 yards for a touchdown and netted 20 more on another pair plus 17 on a kickoff return and 63 rushing. Walt Roberts returned another punt 42 to set up another touchdown for the Browns in the National Football League exhibition game Sunday.

At Pitsburgh

Go as the 49ers prepare for a Saturday night engagement against Pittsburgh in Portland, Ore., and the expected 1966 debut of quarterback John Brodie, they can expect plenty of work in covering kicks.

"Evidently there's not a lot of people on the kicking team that want to play football" an unhappy Christiansen commented after the loss to Cleveland.

He wouldn't say that Brodie would start against the Steelers, yet there was a clear inference that the veteran who recently signed a big money pact would be the man at the helm.

"I contemplated using Brodie, and if we had fallen behind more than 21 points, I would have used him," said the coach, adding, "But I had the utmost confidence in Bill Kilmer."

The latter brought the club back from a 21-0 deficit to a 21-17 count in the final period Sun-

Italian Wins Final Event In Ski Meet

PORTILLO, Chile (AP) — The French-dominated World Ski Championships are over, and the end didn't come a moment too soon for the hard luck U.S. team.

Even the lone U.S. medal winner, Penny McCoy of Bishop, Calif., couldn't escape the injury hex. Miss McCoy hit a rut while training for the giant slalom and sprained her ankle so severely that she had to withdraw from the event.

Miss McCoy, only 16, captured the only U.S. medal with a third place showing in the slalom.

Italy's Carlo Senoner won the special slalom — Sunday's final event in the week-long championships. His aggregate time was 101.56 seconds.

Beloit Rides 6-Run 6th To Sixth Legion Title Over Wisconsin Rapids

CLINTONVILLE (AP)—Beloit rode a six-run sixth inning to the Wisconsin Junior American Legion Baseball Tournament championship Sunday defeating Wisconsin Rapids 6-3.

Beloit, which had defeated Wisconsin Rapids earlier in the double-elimination tournament, had six hits in its big inning including homers by John Harris and Rick Straw. Harris' homer was good for three runs.

Beloit emerged from the tournament with a 4-0 record and Harris was chosen the tourney's most valuable player.

Wisconsin Rapids scored a run in the first on a single by losing pitcher Mike Duval and a double by Gary Sandek. Sandek's single, an interference call and a single by Dale Kronstedt helped the losers toward two more runs in the eighth.

Fritz Draeger of Beloit was the tourney's best batter with a .500 average. Wisconsin Rapids, 3-2 in tourney play, won the sportsmanship award.

Beloit advances to the seven-team final.

By TOM SEPPY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Baltimore pitcher Ed Watt says he hasn't been very effective during the past couple of weeks because of a sore arm. Watt, who spent most of the first half of the season in the past couple of weeks, boosted his record to 9-3 because of a sore arm. Watt, who spent most of the first half of the season in the past couple of weeks, boosted his record to 9-3 because of a sore arm.

Washington Senators will have a hard time believing it.

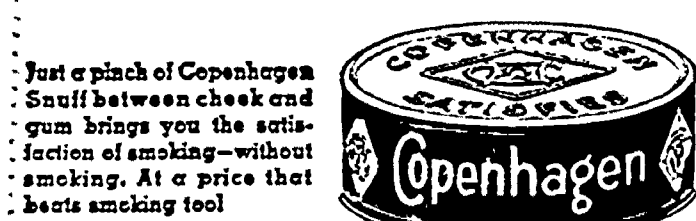

Watt held Washington to only two singles in eight innings Sunday as the American League pitchers, including loser Frank Kreutzer, 0-3, who lasted only Senators 6-0. Watt was replaced in the ninth by Gene Brabender because his arm began to bother him again.

He allowed only three balls to reach the outfield, including one of the hits — a pinch single by Willie Kirkland in the eighth. "So I was happy they let me out," Watt said in the dressing room. "I was just afraid to let them out because I thought I'd hurt something."

"I felt better after the first inning, but I don't think I really put a lot into any pitch through the game."

"That's the way it's been ever since. But after having a sore arm during the past two for two weeks," he said with a smile. "My arm has smile. I'm satisfied."

Tobacco Too Good To Smoke

King, Daun Victimized In Opener

BURLINGTON, Ia. — The booming bats of the Burlington Bees produced seven home runs in a doubleheader sweep over the Fox Cities Foxes here Sunday night, 12-3 and 2-1.

The twin setbacks extended the Foxes' losing streak to three games, following on the heels of a 12-game string of successes. Burlington pulled within seven games of pace-setting Cedar Rapids with the sweep.

Burlington slammed six of the homers in last night's opener and finished with 17 hits off three Foxes' hurlers. But the only Bee homer of the nightcap proved to be decisive.

The Foxes had taken a 1-0 lead in the second inning of the nightcap when Berke Reichenbach singled, Al Fitzmorris walked and Bob Von Eps grounded into a force play, with second sacker Bob Clifton throwing wild to first. Reichenbach crossed the plate on the wild relay.

Hits 22nd Homer

Then with 2-out in the fourth inning, Burlington's Pete Koegel followed Clifton's single with a line drive homer over the left field fence for the 2-1 victory. The blow was Koegel's 22nd round-tripper of the year.

Foxes' Henry King and Jim Daun, a Chilton native in his professional debut, were the victims of the Burlington uprising in last night's opener. King was raked for six hits and six runs, while Daun allowed eight hits and four runs.

The Foxes led, 1-0, after Al Kristowski opened the game with a triple and scored on Jerry Bohmer's sacrifice fly, but Burlington bounced back for three runs, on Bob Clifton's homer in the bottom half of the inning.

Before the game was over, Al Fernandez rapped a solo shot and Clifton added a 2-run blast in the third: Bill McNulty hit a 2-run homer and Joe Keough followed with a solo shot in the fifth and McNulty followed with a 2-run job in the sixth.

Meanwhile, the Foxes managed a run in the fourth on

Namath Saved From Serious Injury by Brace

Cleveland Streaks to 21-0 Margin Over 49ers, Wins 28-17

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The metal brace that holds Joe Namath's right knee together works.

How well it works may have been fully established Saturday night under the worst of circumstances when the New York Jets' $400,000 quarterback was located underneath Don Floyd, Houston's 245-pound defensive end.

Namath, however, suffered only a minor injury to his highly-publicized knee.

The action occurred at Birmingham, Ala., one of Namath's stamping grounds when he was a collegian at Alabama. And a crowd of 57,205 — the largest in American Football League exhibition history — was on hand to watch last year's Rookie of the Year.

But Namath never survived the first quarter. He limped off after being hit by Floyd and will be lost to the Jets for two to three weeks, or until their final exhibition game a week before the regular season opens.

The brace, however, may have protected Namath's knee enough to avert a serious injury.

Packers Trade Ralph Wenzel, Point for Game in Dallas

Rookie Guard Goes to Cleveland For Undisclosed Draft Choice

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Leaving unhappy memories of Chicago's Bears behind them, the Packers today trimmed their roster by one via the trade route before zeroing in on the highly successful Dallas Cowboys.

Ralph Wenzel, a 6-3, 240-pound guard from San Diego State, was dealt to the Cleveland Browns for an undisclosed draft choice. Coach Vince Lombardi announced, Wenzel, who is 23, was the Packers' 11th choice in last December's National Football League draft.

His departure reduces the squad to 51, two over the figure which must be reached by week from Tuesday, and the guard complement to four — veterans Fred Thurston and Jerry Kramer and rookies Gale Gillingham (Minnesota) and Roy Schmidt (Long Beach State).

As indicated, the Cowboys have been having their moments in the National Football League's infant 1966 pre-season competition, which suggests the Packers can expect another hectic evening when they invade "big D" Saturday night for their annual pre-season exchange with the Cowboys.

Packers Lose, 21-12

The Bays, it might be added, have reason to approach the Texans with something less than affection. The Cowboys, erupting in the second half, dealt the Pack a 21-12 setback in last year's Cotton Bowl exhibition.

The Cowboys will take a 2-0 record, compiled at the expense of the NFL's west coast entries, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The Cowboys dispatched the 49ers, 24 to 13, in their opening venture, then forged a 20-10 conquest of the Rams in Los Angeles. This last success, it should be noted, followed a 16-6 Ram victory over the Eastern Division champion Cleveland Browns in their debut a week earlier.

Former basketball star Pete Gent, who never played college football, figured prominently in both victories. He caught two touchdown passes (from Don Meredith) in that baptismal triumph over the 49ers and another 33-yard TD pitch, which sent the Cowboys ahead to stay, in Saturday night's win.

Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Mays may be only two trips to the plate away from becoming the second greatest home run hitter of all time, but Manny Mota is closer to 200 trips away from becoming the top hitter in the National League this season.

Mays hit the 533rd homer of his brilliant career Sunday in the first game of San Francisco's 5-2, 5-3 sweep of Houston.

Mota increased his average to .360, best in the league, by rapping three hits, including a two-run homer in the ninth inning that pushed first-place Pittsburgh past Cincinnati 4-2. But Mota has virtually no chance of winning the batting title because he lags far behind in times at bat.

Mays' homer placed him one away from tying Jimmy Foxx's 534 and two away from trailing only Babe Ruth on the all-time list. Willie, however, wasn't saying much about the impending historical occasion.

"Don't ask me that," he replied to a question about No. 534. "Why is it every time I get close to something, you guys come around and ask me that?"

The only question Mota is asked these days is how does he feel about not having a chance to win the batting title despite his lofty average.

"It doesn't bother me at all," he replies. "We play to win the pennant. You can't play as individuals."

Shares Center Field

The reason Mota has only 236 at-bats is that he shares center field with Matt Alou. Alou, however, has 375 at-bats and almost certainly will reach the 502 total plate appearances needed to qualify for the title. Alou currently leads the league with a .344 mark.

Mota's problem is that even if he plays every inning of the Pirates' remaining 46 games, he almost certainly will not reach 502.

Despite Mays' reluctance to talk about 534, he'll certainly reach it.

In other NL games, Los Angeles edged Chicago 4-3 in 14 innings, then lost 12-10 in 10, Atlanta whipped Philadelphia 7-1 and New York downed St. Louis 5-4 before losing 4-3.

Doubled in First Run

Rudolph Edges Nicklaus, Wins 'Thunderbird'

Martindale Fades to 74 in Closing Round; Gary Player Seventh

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP) — Just when Mason Rudolph was going to pot, Pott came of him and it paid off to the tune of $20,000.

That was the amount Rudolph pocketed Sunday by winning the $100,000 Thunderbird Golf Classic, the first tournament victory in two years for the soft-spoken 32-year-old pro from Clarksville, Tenn.

"Last week at the Cleveland Open I missed the money for the first time in a long while," Rudolph said. "But Johnny Pott, who's just about my closest friend, spotted on the practice tee before the final round that I was bringing the club through with my hands way too far behind the ball."

The subsequent adjustment resulted in the largest paycheck since Rudolph turned pro in 1958 and his first triumph since the 1964 Greater New Orleans Open.

Outplayed Nicklaus Rudolph outplayed defending champion Jack Nicklaus in a head-to-head duel down the nationally televised stretch run and finished with a three-under-par 69 for the day and a total of 278, 10 under for the four rounds. Nicklaus was a stroke back and won $12,000. He needs less than $10,000 to become the third golfer ever to win a half-million dollars. Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper are the others.

Billy Casper, the 27-year-old Texan who led Rudolph, Nicklaus and Tommy Aaron by two shots after three rounds, faded to a 74 Sunday and finished third, three strokes behind Rudolph and one ahead of Aaron.

Player Ties For Seventh Gary Player of South Africa, bidding to regain his 165 form, tied for seventh at 285. Arnold Palmer, plagued on-and-off by bursitis in his left shoulder, finished in a tie for 11th at 286 and Billy Casper, the U.S. Open Champ who led the Thunderbird after two rounds, tied for 17th at 287.

Pott, Rudolph's benefactor, tied for 25th at 289.

Nicklaus shot ahead by a stroke on the second hole but Rudolph caught him on the fifth. A three-foot putt gave Nicklaus an eagle on seven, which Rudolph birdied. They both birdied 11 and bogeyed 12.

"After the 11th we looked at each other and said it was just the two of us," Nicklaus said. "Then we proceeded to make a bogey."

Tied Again On 13 They were tied again when Nicklaus took another bogey on 13. The turning point came on 15, where Rudolph drove a six-iron to the green and sank a 15-foot putt for a birdie.

"That was a big putt," Rudolph admitted. "It looked like 50 feet long. It was so long since I'd been ahead in a tournament I wasn't sure I could hold it. Jack helped me a little bit on 17, though, when he three-putted from 35 feet for a bogey. This was the first tournament I ever won where I had to come from behind in the final round."

Quincy Hands Cedar Rapids 6-4 Setback Cedar Rapids' red-hot Cardinals finally reached double figures in the loss column in the Midwest League's second round pennant race, losing to Quincy Sunday, 6-4, after a 7-5 victory over Decatur Saturday.

The Cardinals' second-round mark is now 39-10, exactly seven games ahead of runnerup Burlington, a doubleheader victor over the Fox Cities Foxes Sunday and a 2-1 loser to Wisconsin Rapids Saturday.

Other Sunday results were Dubuque 9, Waterloo 8; Clinton 3, Wisconsin Rapids 1; and Quincey 2, Decatur 1.

Reds Attempt to Trade Fischer CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds said Sunday they will attempt to trade pitcher Hank Fischer, who has yet to win a game since being acquired from the Atlanta Braves.

The Reds left Fischer behind as the club departed for the West Coast. A spokesman said pitcher Darrell Osteen is being recalled from Buffalo, N.Y., and will join the team in Los Angeles.

Ralston-Graebner Duo Triumphs Easily

U. S. Netters Win Zone Title

CLEVELAND (AP) — A pair of 6-foot-2 power hitters, Dennis Ralston and Clark Graebner, already had the Davis Cup Tennis American Zone championship wrapped up for the United States going into the last two singles matches today against Mexico.

In just 59 minutes between showers Sunday afternoon, the Ralston-Graebner partnership overpowered veteran Rafael Osuna and 5-foot-6, left-handed Joaquin Loyo-Mayo 6-1, 6-4, 6-0.

The Mexicans needed a doubles triumph to stay alive for the final day because they lost both singles matches Saturday in the best-of-five-point championship.

But they couldn't cope with the hard-hitting U.S. pair, especially the big serve. Graebner yielded only three points in the six games of the match that he served, winning three of those at love.

Ralston served to open the match, and that first game was deuced three times before he won it. In the next five games he served, Ralston dropped only six points, and he aced Loyo-Mayo to end the 13-minute final set.

'One of Worst' "We got to most of the shots, but we couldn't do anything when we got there," Osuna said.

The 27-year-old Mexican said the match was "one of the worst I ever played." His service was broken five times, including the first and fifth games of the last set. In volleying, usually his strongest weapon, Osuna erred on a number of easy shots.

"It's not all Rafe's fault," Ralston said of his former college roommate. "Loyo-Mayo isn't very big at the net — it's easy to lob over him. But Rafe was a little slower than he was yesterday."

Today Graebner was to play Osuna in the finale after Ralston's match with Loyo-Mayo, whose 21st birthday is Tuesday.

The U.S. team's next Davis Cup round is against Brazil in October. One more round of play remains for the winner of that one to get to Australia to challenge possession of the cup Dec. 26.

ABC Denies Charges Filed By Williamson Claims It, 2 Others Did Not Conspire to Limit Pin Market

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The American Bowling Congress has denied allegations that it conspired to monopolize the bowling pin market.

Bill Williamson, a bowling pin manufacturer, charged in a $100 million suit filed in a federal court that the American Bowling Congress, the Brunswick Corp. and the American Machine and Foundry Co., conspired to limit the market on bowling pins.

His suit followed ABC's rejection of pins he submitted for approval.

ABC contended in an answer filed in court yesterday that it has the right to sanction equipment to insure standardization in league and tournament play, and that Williamson's pins did not meet ABC's standards.

AMF earlier denied the charge and the Brunswick Corp. has until Sept. 1 to file an answer.

Laird Protests 14,000 Goose Quota for '66 State Season WASHINGTON (AP) — A suggestion that the goose quota for Wisconsin hunters be set at 20,000 - 25,000 for the 1966 season comes from Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis.

In a letter to Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall, Laird protested the proposed quota by the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife of 14,000 Canada Geese.

"If a 14,000 - goose quota is slapped on the 1966 Wisconsin season," Laird said, "it will set the stage for intensive crop damage and will unjustly penalize thousands of non - Horicon hunters."

He referred to Wisconsin's hunting encourages geese in Horicon marsh area.

Laird said a 14,000 - goose quota "as a whole would be detrimental both to our farmers and our hunters in the state."

Laird said the state is experiencing Canada goose crop damage during the fall and spring migration periods.

"This damage, which at present is confined mainly to the Horicon quota zone, certainly can be expected to spread over a much wider area if the Wisconsin Canada goose season is closed at an earlier date," he said.

"From past experience our state has learned that the closure of the quota zone in Wisconsin after 8 or 10 days of hunting encourages geese in large numbers to stay in Wisconsin until the weather becomes severe," he said.

Jets' team physician, called Namath's injury a minor strain behind the knee and said there was "no damage to the bony structure of the knee."

That was translated by a Jets' official to mean there was no cartilage or ligament damage, which would have been far more serious.

Mike Taliaferro took over at quarterback when Namath left, ran 10 yards for the Jets' only touchdown and in the fourth quarter twice moved them within field goal range. Jim Turner kicked a 38-yarder that broke a 10-10 tie, then added a 17-yarder.

In the only other AFL exhibition, Oakland defeated San Diego 14-7. In National League weekend action, Baltimore thumped Philadelphia 31-17. Minnesota crushed Pittsburgh 35-6. Dallas downed Los Angeles 20-10. New York edged Atlanta 14-7 and Cleveland whipped San Francisco 28-17.

The Raiders also won with a substitute quarterback as Tom Flores passed for two touchdowns including a 20-yarder to Art Powell with 54 seconds remaining. Flores took over for Colton Davidson, who suffered a muscle spasm while recovering a fumble.

40-Yard Pass Johnny Unitas and his stand-in, Garry Cuozzo, each passed for two Baltimore touchdowns. Unitas hit John Mackey with a 40-yarder and Butch Wilson with a 32-yarder. Cuozzo penetrated the Eagles' defense on a 21-yard flip to Jimmy Orr and a 30-yard heave to Willie Richardson.

Bob Berry, former Oregon quarterback, worked all the way for the Vikings in their game at Portland, Ore., and connected with Lance Rentzel and Jim Lindsey on touchdown passes covering 32 and 20 yards. Jim Marshall and John Kirby each ran back an interception for other Minnesota scores.

Don Meredith and fleet Bob Hayes collaborated on the big play for the Cowboys, a 63-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter that gave Dallas an insurmountable 14-3 lead. Meredith also passed 33 yards to Pete Gent for a touchdown.

Earl Morrall passed for both Giants' scores, a two-yarder to Joe Morrison and a four-yarder to Homer Jones. Ron Smith scored for the Falcons on a 68-yard run with an interception. It gave him two of the three touchdowns the new Atlanta club has scored in three games.

Cleveland rushed out to a 21-0 lead, then coasted in against the 49ers. San Francisco didn't get on the scoreboard until the last minute of the first half. Leroy Kelly returned a punt 87 yards for one Brown touchdown, and Walt Roberts set up another with a 42-yard return.

San Antonio Unit Wins Polo Title MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Oak Brook team of Hinsdale, Ill., seeking an unprecedented fourth consecutive National 20 - Goal Polo tourney title, was beaten Sunday for the championship by the Sunny Climes club of San Antonio, Tex., 9-7.

Airline Negotiators Agree On Strike Settlement Terms

Vote on Tentative Pact By 35,000 Machinists May Be Scheduled for Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A settlement agreement in the 39-day airlines strike was announced today, subject to a vote of approval by 35,400 strikers against five major airlines.

Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds said in announcing the tentative contract agreement that a vote by the striking members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists would be held "possibly and hopefully tomorrow."

Union President P. L. (Roy) Siemiller said meetings of the strikers around the country would be called as soon as possible to explain the terms of the agreement and take a vote.

Terms Secret

Terms of the contract agreement were kept secret pending the vote but informed estimates placed the total three-year cost at some $90 million, or about 8 per cent per year. Top mechanics now make $3.52 per hour, plus fringe benefits that bring a total to around $4 per hour.

Asked how he felt about the settlement, reached after 20 straight hours of Labor Department talks, Siemiller said: "I'm tired. Let's go home."

Reynolds called the agreement a "memorandum of understanding" and emphasized it was not final until approved by the strikers who voted down a previous agreement negotiated in the White House.

If approved by the striking mechanics, it would bring to an end the longest, biggest and most costly strike.

No Prediction

While Siemiller declined to predict the outcome of the vote, the settlement in addition to reportedly containing considerably higher wages and benefits than the rejected White House package also contained a cost of living wage escalator clause.

The wage escalator had been one of the union's most vital demands from the beginning of the long dispute and its absence in the earlier agreement was a reason given by strikers in many areas for turning down the White House agreement July 31.

He said the agreement covered

Viet Nam Takeover Impossible, LBJ Reports After Review

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson says weekend talks with Gen. William C. Westmoreland shored up his conviction that American and allied troops "will not be defeated by the Communists in Viet Nam."

A Communist takeover "is no longer just improbable. It is impossible," the President said after he and Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Viet Nam, concluded a review of the status of the war.

Talking with newsmen on the front lawn of the LBJ Ranch, Johnson tempered his statement with these words: "No one can say how many men will be needed or how long we must persevere. The American people must know there will be no quick victory, but the world must know that we will not quit."

Still More Troops

Westmoreland, fielding a flurry of questions from reporters, said additional troops will be needed in Viet Nam before the end of the year. He said it was impossible to determine now the extent of the increase.

The general arrived at the ranch Saturday evening but his presence remained secret until he and his wife attended church services Sunday with President and Mrs. Johnson. Westmoreland spent about 18 hours at the ranch before heading back for Viet Nam.

As the war conference was held in Texas, there were developments elsewhere:

—The Cambodian chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, said he will ask roving U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman to cancel his planned trip to Cambodia next month. Sihanouk also said he sees no sign the Viet Nam war will end in the foreseeable future.

'Dramatize Needs'

Migrant Workers Embark on March

BY DAVID GIFFEY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUTOMA — Twenty-four marchers left St. Joseph Catholic Church about 9:30 a.m. today during a light rainfall to begin a five-day, 80-mile trip to Madison.

The march, in the words of the leader, Jesus Salas, is to "dramatize the needs of migrant farm workers in Wisconsin."

Eighteen of the marchers were Mexican-American migrant farm workers from Waukegan County. The Rev. Michael Garrigan, a priest at St. Joseph, and the Rev. Barry Shaw, director of the Wisconsin Council of Churches, accompanied the marchers.

Tuesday March

The entourage will travel approximately 15 miles today to spend the night at a wayside near Coloma. Tuesday's segment of the march will cover about 18 miles, planners said, and the migrants will spend Tuesday night at the Mission Virgen de Guadalupe. Endeavor.

Leaders of the effort to organize farm workers in this Waukegan County community made known their demands to state officials last Friday.

A meeting between leaders of the movement and state officials is scheduled for tonight in Wautoma. State groups represented at tonight's meeting reportedly include the State Industrial Commission, the governor's committees of Migration and Human Rights, the Wisconsin Cannery Association and the Wisconsin State employment Service.

March to Continue

The demands made Friday asked that migrant farm workers be guaranteed a minimum wage of $1.25 per hour if piece-work rates should fall below that figure, public sanitary facilities in centers of migrant activity, insurance programs for migrants and representations of migrants on the Governor's Committee on Migratory Labor.

Beatles Nearly Mobbed in Ohio

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Beatles barely missed being mobbed Sunday night as nearly 3,000 screaming teen-agers surged to the stage at Cleveland Municipal Stadium.

The show was halted for about half an hour as the Beatles raced to a trailer behind the stage set up on the baseball diamond. The crowd milled around the stage for about 15 minutes before returning to their seats at the urging of police and a disc jockey.

"We'll stop the concert unless you move back," the disc jockey yelled into a microphone on the stage. "Hold it, move back."

Ready for Photo Mission

Spacecraft in Moon Orbit

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A short snort from a little rocket has pushed America's Lunar Orbiter into an orbit around the Moon — a perfect spot, scientists say, from which to take close-up portraits of the pock-marked lunar surface.

The 850-pound spacecraft, carrying cameras and other experiments, attained lunar orbit at 11:34 a.m. Sunday when the 100-pound-thrust rocket fired for 10 minutes.

Scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the blast slowed the shiny craft by 1,510 miles an hour, allowing lunar gravity to trap the Orbiter and swing it into orbit.

First Goal

Spokesmen for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Orbiter swings in an orbit ranging from 119 miles to 1,160 miles above the moon, every 3 hours, 37 minutes and 36 seconds.

"It has passed its first goal, attaining orbit around the moon," said retired Navy Capt. Lee R. Scherer, program director for NASA, Sunday. "Its next task is to take the pictures. We're confident it will."

taking 350 pictures of a 3,000-mile-long strip of terrain along the lunar equator, where nine potential landing spots for American astronauts have been selected.

Off Ideal Course

The spacecraft orbit differed only slightly from the planned, or ideal, course, scientists controlling the device said.

"That orbit is well within the spacecraft's capability to complete the mission," said project director Clifford H. Nelson.

Completing the mission will require Orbiter to fire the rocket once again, but only briefly, to bring it closer to the lunar surface.

Rioting Whites, Police Clash in Chicago Melee

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thousands of rioting whites clashed with club-swinging policemen in Chicago Sunday night after three separate civil rights marches into all-white neighborhoods.

At least 16 persons — including five policemen — were injured and police arrested 21 persons during the melee.

Police swarmed into Marquette Park on the city's Southwest Side and knocked several persons to the ground with clubs as thousands of white persons stormed through the park.

The park finally was emptied and officers denied anyone entrance.

Nazi Leader

The violence erupted after a leader of the American Nazi party called on white persons to march into Negro areas.

The violence came after the civil rights marches into Gage Park, Bogan and Jefferson Park neighborhoods to protest alleged housing discrimination.

Marquette Park was outside the area of the civil rights marches, but the demonstrators were met with volleys of rocks and bottles which resulted in some injuries and several arrests.

John Patter of the American Nazi party earlier had told

Knife May be One Used in Nurse Killings

CHICAGO (AP) — A knife of the type believed used in the slaying of eight student nurses in Chicago reportedly has been recovered near the scene of the massacre.

The Chicago Sun-Times said the knife reportedly was recovered from the Calumet River near a bridge that is a 15-minute walk from the scene of the South Side killings July 14.

The knife was described as a muskrat variety used by fur trappers and hunters — with two 3-inch blades, each sharpened to razor-like keenness on both edges.

Medical pathologists for the Cook County coroner reported that a double-edge knife was used to kill the young women in their South Side townhouse dormitory.

The newspaper said the knife finally was recovered by a commercial salvage firm after policemen located it on information from an undisclosed source. Richard Speck, 24, indicted in the slayings, is scheduled to appear Thursday in the Circuit Court's criminal division.

A spokesman at the police crime laboratory and other authorities have declined to confirm or deny that a knife had been found.

Two More Friendly Villages Blasted by Mistaken Attacks

Nine Civilians Reported Killed In Strikes in Mekong Delta Area

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — Military spokesmen reported today two more apparently mistaken attacks on friendly villages in South Viet Nam.

In the first, five villagers were reported killed and 15 wounded in the Mekong Delta Friday. In the second, four civilians were killed and 35 wounded Saturday in the southern part of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

Two other erroneous attacks last week had been reported earlier.

Circumstances Unclear

The circumstances of the attack in the Mekong Delta were not clear. A U.S. military spokesman said it had not been determined whether the casualties were caused by aircraft or artillery. He said the villagers were caught in an action involving South Vietnamese ground forces and supporting aircraft and artillery.

One unconfirmed report said a helicopter gunship was involved. South Vietnamese authorities are investigating.

Ground Fighting

In ground fighting, the U.S. command reported that a battalion of the 1st Cavalry (Airmobile) Division clashed in heavy action with a battalion of North Vietnamese troops in the Chu Pong Mountains near the Cambodian border 18 miles southwest of Plei Me.

The fighting erupted Sunday and broke off at noon today. A U.S. spokesman said American casualties were light, and North Vietnamese casualties were not known.

Postal Clerks Union Wants Recognition

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The United Federation of Postal Clerks, AFL-CIO, says its major objective during the next two years will be to win congressional recognition of the 160,000-member union.

The Post Office Department now recognizes the union under an executive order issued by President John F. Kennedy in 1961. The federation wants Congress to pass a law calling for binding arbitration, mandatory enforcement and penalties for violation.

State Toll Reaches 628

7 Perish in Crash In Grant County

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seven persons including six members of an Iowa family were injured fatally in a two-car collision that scarred a Sunday outing and raised Wisconsin's traffic death toll for the year to 628 compared to 588 on Aug. 15 last year.

The collision's toll was only two less than that of the state's worst auto crash—nine dead in a Manitowish County two-car accident in May, 1957.

It raised the number of traffic deaths in Wisconsin weekend accidents to 15.

Killed in the Grant County crash were Joseph Fondell, 37, of Dubuque, Iowa; his wife, Rita, 37; two of their children, Dawn 7, and Jean, 4, and the apparent driver of the other car Vincent Pennekamp, 16, of rural Lancaster.

Others Injured

Four other Fondell children were hospitalized in Dubuque where two of them—Faye, 11, and Karen 8, died a few hours after the Sunday night accident. Two other Fondell children, Thomas, 10, and Mark, 9, were critically injured. Carl Hall 19

Rural Oneida Youth Involved in Accident Enters Guilty Plea

Alan R. King, 18, route 1, Oneida, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants, following an accident Thursday night, pleaded guilty this morning and was fined $175 and costs with an alternate of 70 days in jail.

State, Minnesota Join to Fight River Pollution

HUDSON (AP)—The new director of the Minnesota-Wisconsin Area Boundary Commission says he hopes the two states can forget past rivalry over the St. Croix River and join forces against river pollution.
Peter Odegard, the new executive director of the 10-man commission, recently moved into a home overlooking the river at St. Croix Cove where he can keep an eye on what he called a mutual responsibility of Wisconsin and Minnesota.
The commission, given $25,000 by the two states to help Odegard set up an office and staff, "will need the co-operation and backing of all interested citizens from both sides of the river," he said.
The two states, he said, once quarreled over use and ownership of the river as a result of disputes between lumber firms located on the river's opposite banks.

State Lags in Consumer Protection

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin lags far behind other states in adopting and enforcing consumer protection laws, Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey said today in a position paper.
"At the present time Wisconsin has inadequate laws, ineffective enforcement machinery and insufficient consumer education," said Lucey, seeking the Democratic nomination for governor.
He proposed a consumer protection program that he said would "assure the consumer that he will not be abused by the minority in the business community who take unjust advantage of their economic power."
Included were recommendations for "truth in packaging," "truth in lending," retail credit finance controls, consumer counsel, consumer education and injunctive powers for the attorney general and district attorney to prosecute alleged abuses.

The accident occurred at 11:35 a.m. on U.S. 45 in the Town of Larrabee. According to Waupaca County police Gough was driving northeast on the highway when he lost control of his car, struck the pole, and ended up in a ditch on the left side of the road.

No Date Set for Slander Lawsuit

A new date has not yet been set in a $100,000 slander suit against WHBY, Inc., an Appleton Radio station, by Karen Baker, 20, 517 N. Appleton St.

Trial date had been set for Aug. 30, but Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr said he has been informed trial has been postponed and a new date has not yet been suggested. The case is scheduled to be heard before Judge Dohr in County Court Branch 3.

50 Drivers Compete in First State Tractor Pull Contest

800 Spectators at Shiocton See Test of Power and Skill Sunday

SHIOCTON — Billows of black smoke, stench of smoldering rubber tires and sputtering of engines filled the air at the first Wisconsin state tractor pulling contest Sunday at the Shiocton Speedway.

About 50 tractors from the state were entered in six classes providing main competition during the afternoon. Separate competition for women and boys and girls followed regular competition.

Tractors strained against the weight of stone boats until they could no longer maintain their grip on the asphalt covering and churned away without moving forward.

Experience showed in the performance of the drivers, as those who had competed before got distance where the inexperienced soon spun out.

A crowd estimated between 800 and 1,000 persons gathered to observe the event.

Boats Hooked Up
A 200-foot pulling lane was laid out in front of the grandstand. Two "boats" were hooked to the tractors. The smaller carried a set amount of weight for each class (usually one of the tractors from the next lower class.)

The larger boat was mounted by 80 men as the tractor proceeded down the course. The amount of weight each tractor could pull amazed many spectators. At times the lead tractor would make it completely through the course, and then repeat its run after additional weight was added to the tractor it was pulling. The added weight usually was about one ton.

Each entrant paid a fee of $10 which was returned in the form of prize money to the top four finishers. The payoff included all of the entry fees in the class, plus one-sixth of the gate.

A total of $670 was paid to the 24 entrants who won prizes.

Examine Tractors
The event not only gave area farmers a chance to observe various makes of tractors in a test of pulling power but also to examine them and talk to dealers.

John Breuch, Waunakee, made two perfect runs through the 200-foot course in the 12,000-pound No. 5 class before finally stalling out at 192-11 in his third run, still good for first place.

Jerry Kramer, Kenosha, turned in a perfect score in the 16,000 pound event. Ken Obermeier, Shiocton, was the only other driver to make it through the entire course, covering the distance in the class four, 9,000 pound event.

Scores were:

State Studies Children's Mental Health

More Facilities for Treating Wisconsin Youth Recommended

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The pressure from communities for mental health treatment services for children is one of the significant current developments in the state-sponsored mental hygiene program, according to Dr. L. J. Ganser, chief of the mental hygiene division of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Dr. Ganser's report to the board of public welfare said that various general studies on the prevalence of disturbances in children indicate there may be as many as 100,000 potential users of mental health services among Wisconsin's young people.

He estimated there are now about 6,000 children in the state actually receiving services from the local clinics which are increasing in number as a consequence of state encouragement through financial aid, private sources, and programs associated with the state division and its operating institutions.

Formal Division
Dr. Ganser informed the board of his desire to organize a formal division of children's services in the mental hygiene administration, to encourage the development of preventive programs for the benefit of children.

Such a plan may be submitted in the form of a proposal after the board reviews a concurrent suggestion for a revision of the function and program of the Wisconsin Diagnostic Center operated by the welfare department on the campus of the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. Ganser said the authority of the center should be revised to make it relate more clearly to the emerging pressures for local mental health services, including consultation on prevention and training. He said the Center needs consultants, such as social workers, to work directly with local community agencies and to make followup calls.

Chilton Visitors Recall Africa Experiences

Adaptability Needed in Foreign Service

BY LESLIE YOUNGSTADT

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

CHILTON — A liking for people and travel and a degree of adaptability are characteristics necessary for a career in the Foreign Service.

This is the opinion of Marvin Green, who has worked for the Foreign Service for more than 15 years and with his wife, Edith, and daughters, Debbie, 11, and Bonnie 5, recently visited Mrs. Green's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Royal Klofanda, here.

The family is on a three-month home leave after spending the past three years in Ibadan, Nigeria, where Green served as administrative officer in charge of personnel activities for the American consulate.

Study in Washington
Although Green must spend time during this month and early September in Washington, D.C., taking courses, Mrs. Green and her daughters plan to remain in Chilton through the month before joining him for their September 17 departure for Nairobi, Kenya.

Green started his foreign service career while in the Air Force, doing attache work with the United States embassy in Iran from 1951-53 and in the Union of South Africa from 1956-60.

In 1961 he began to work for the Agency for International Development (AID) in Afghanistan, where he served until he was sent to Nigeria in 1963.

Although Green worked out of the consulate office, he also did personnel work for AID and for the United States Information Service (USIS).

Green estimated that more than 1,000 Americans were in his area.

Services Provided
Among services provided by foreign service personnel are issuing visas and passports for foreigners who wish to travel in America, issuing birth certificates for Americans born overseas; assisting with the return of bodies to the States in case of death, providing services to destitute people and assisting American businessmen.

Mrs. Green is a primary teacher, but did not teach school in Nigeria, instead producing a television story hour and conducting a weekly children's reading hour at the USIS library for two years.

The Greens lived "comfortably" in Nigeria, but noted that each week they took malaria suppressives and numerous immunizations needed throughout the year.

Soaked in Solution
All fresh fruit and vegetables had to be soaked in a chemical solution, because night soil was used to fertilize crops.

No apples, grapes, head lettuce or celery were available, Mrs. Green said, although supermarkets contained almost as great a variety as in America.

American frozen foods sold were quite expensive, and foreign delicacies were abundant. Due to a limited selection of ready-made clothing, Mrs. Green purchased material and had some of her dresses made by local seamstresses.

Green said language proved no barrier in Nigeria, since the Nigerians he dealt with had been educated by the British and spoke English.

Peace Corps workers and AID consultants working directly in the poverty areas were those for whom knowledge of native dialects was essential.

Used New System
The Greens had to become accustomed to using the English currency system of pounds and shillings, driving on the "wrong" side of the road and the fact that shorts and slacks for women are definitely taboo for street attire.

Although the Greens rented a spacious, air-conditioned mod-

Vandalism Causes Halt To Quarry Supervision

BRILLION — Vandalism wrecked facilities at the time after 4 p.m. Friday, resulting in a shut-down of supervised swimming at the quarry for the remainder of the summer.

The decision to close was made by Lee Schuff, summer recreation director and pool supervisor, and Carl Martens, chairman of the city's park and recreation commission.

This was the third vandalism report of the summer "and the worst," according to Schuff, who discovered the damage Saturday afternoon.

A $140 "mini-tramp," a small trampoline used for diving, was disassembled and its parts were thrown into the water.

"All 28 springs are missing and a new center pad which I installed on the mini-tramp Friday is gone," Schuff said.

400-Pound Stand
Also thrown into the water were two lifeguard stands, two park benches and two trash barrels.

One of the life guard chairs, which weighs 400 pounds with concrete base, was lugged approximately 50 feet before being dumped into 20 feet of water.

Schuff and lifeguard Jim Sloma worked with a wrecker Saturday afternoon to bring up the submerged equipment. One bench and the trash barrels still are in the murky depths.

Swimmers who intend to use the pool without supervision the remainder of the summer are warned of the dangerous conditions. Divers could be seriously injured if they tangled with any of this submerged equipment.

The bottom of the deeper area contains broken glass and other debris.

Floating Bottles
The lifeguard stands were "fished" out of the water on two other occasions this summer, according to Schuff.

Beer bottles have been found floating in the water and littering the sand beach. Small floats strung on a rope to mark off the wading area have been shot with holes from a .22 or BB gun. "These floats cost 70 cents each and I've spent approximately $15 this summer for new ones," he said.

Earlier this summer, on recommendation of the park and recreation commission, the city council okayed construction of barricades at the entrance to the swimming area. Before that, nocturnal visitors dove cars down to the waterfront.

Pair Charged in Burglary Get Preliminary Hearing, Haircut

Preliminary hearings and haircuts were requested Friday afternoon for two young men charged with burglarizing a Town of Oneida service station July 3.

The requests were made by court appointed attorneys for Michael Rico, 18, Okauchee, and Wayne F. Meunier, 25, Sullivan. They were arrested by Outagamie County investigators following the early morning burglary at Bob's Cito Service at Oneida.

Register Taken
A cash register was taken from the building, police said.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller set a combined preliminary hearing for the pair for 2 p.m. Friday and continued bond at $2,500 each.

Rico's attorney then requested that the court approve a haircut, at county expense, for the Okauchee man. Rico appeared in County Court Branch 2 with wavy, rust-colored hair that flowed to his shoulders.

Makes Same Request
Meunier's attorney made the same request. The Sullivan man had black hair that was long, but not nearly as long as Rico's.

Judge Keller approved the requests, saying, "I think it's high time they got a haircut."

Health Board Urges Halt of Quarry Use

BRILLION — A citizens' advisory committee stepped up its efforts to bring better recreational facilities to the community by voting to hire legal counsel to investigate swimming pool, recreation and meeting room needs of the city.

Committee action came after it learned last week that the public health sanitation office of the State Board of Health "advised" discontinuation of swimming at the lime kilns quarry here, "in spite of the relatively low coliform (bacteria) count."

The Board of Health action came after city health officer Dr. Julio de Arteaga sent a quarry water sample to the state hygiene laboratory last month after noticing an increase in upper respiratory and inner ear infections.

The increase in the ailments was due to youngsters spending too many hours in the water, not from the bacteria, Dr. de Arteaga concluded at that time. He advised parents to curtail the amount of time their children spent in the water. He also pointed out that the bacteria count in the water fluctuated.

LeRoy Schuff, summer recreation and swimming pool supervisor, reported that the state health department "advised" but did not "order" the quarry closed. With proper restrictions on hours used and normal caution by swimmers, the quarry will remain open until Aug. 28, the date set by the Park and Recreation Board for its closing.

High in Algae
The public health sanitation office indicated in its report that the water sample was high in algae. While algae in itself may not be harmful, it causes a murky condition in water, making it impossible to locate a swimmer in case of an emergency, it reported.

The report further advised that the edges of the rock quarry are dangerously jagged, the area is conducive to accidents due to sharp drop-offs and the area designated for non-

Democratic Party Group Schedules Yearly Corn Roast

The Outagamie County Democratic Party's annual corn roast will be at 5 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 18, at Kimberly's Sunset Point Park. The event will begin at 5 p.m.

"All residents of Outagamie County — not just Democrats — are cordially invited to come and join in the festivities," said Mrs. Marilyn Taylor, county party chairman.

Main speaker will be Dr. Marvin Kagen, Eighth District congressional candidate. Candidates for local offices also will give brief talks.

Entertainment for the corn roast will be provided by Scott Swanson, young Appleton folk singer.

Program chairman for the corn roast is attorney Gordon Myse, Appleton. Assisting Myse are Mrs. James Schutte, Seymour, ticket chairman; Paul Geske, Appleton, food chairman, and Alan Bussel, Appleton, publicity chairman.

Appleton Asked for Bond Interest Share

Grand Chute Wants Percentage Of School Financing Revenue

An attorney for the Town of Grand Chute has demanded the Appleton Common Council immediately change its fiscal policy of not sharing school bond interest with towns in the district.

Atty. Don R. Herrling made the town's position known in a letter Friday to city officials. It may be taken up at Monday's meeting of the council's finance committee.

Herrling is pressing his bid for a change in the city's handling of interest proceeds in the wake of a recent State Supreme Court ruling in which the Village of West Milwaukee won a decision over West Allis.

Put In General Fund West Allis, like Appleton and several other Valley cities, has for years put interest proceeds in the general fund.

The Supreme Court said the revenue should be shared on an equalized valuation percentage basis with the towns that make up the school district. In Appleton's case it would be the towns of Grand Chute, Menasha, Buchanan and Harrison.

Recently, Grand Chute started legal action against Appleton — naming City Treasurer Ray Feuerstein and Clerk Eldon Broehm defendants — to recover monies for short-term school bond investments over the past three years, amounting to slightly over $7,000.

In view of the high court decision, the city has agreed to a refund but the amount is in dispute and may have to be set by the Circuit Court here.

Looks To Future

Herrling made it clear the town was looking to the future even more so than the past, noting interest from the recent multi-million dollar Appleton High School East bond issue should be shared.

On behalf of the Town of Grand Chute, Herrling demanded that short-term investment proceeds go into the general school fund to help lower the levy rather than in the city's general fund.

Grand Chute and other towns attached to the Appleton school district pay about 12 per cent of the annual public schools' budget. Their percentage of the interest income would be the same.

Veteran Member of Shiocton Town Board Succumbs at Age of 71

SHIOCTON — Earl A. Hooyman, 71, a member of the Town of Shiocton board for many years, died Saturday afternoon in New London.

The route 1 man had been a resident of Shiocton most of his life. He was a veteran of World War I.

Hooyman is survived by six daughters, three sons, and 52 grandchildren.

Services will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday at St. Dennis Catholic Church, with burial in the parish cemetery.

$80 Taken From Bar In Weekend Break-in

About $80 in cash was taken during a weekend burglary at Jack's Bar, 523 W. Wisconsin Ave.

The burglary was discovered by a janitor about 6:30 a.m. Sunday. Appleton police said the stolen money was in a glass jar behind the bar.

Entry into the building was through a rear window on which a screen was removed.

Fire Levels Barn Near Black Creek

Blaze Discovered Sunday Night on Kasparek Farm

BLACK CREEK — A fire which broke out shortly after 9 p.m. Sunday has leveled the loft portion of a 94 by 36-foot barn on the route 1 farm of Joseph Kasparek.

Black Creek volunteer firemen, called shortly after the blaze was discovered, fought the fire throughout the night and were still on the scene late this morning.

The barn was filled with hay which smoldered through the day.

The fire department made several trips to village wells to replenish the water supply. The Murphy Construction Co. aided the fire department by hauling water from a quarry.

Foreign Service Work Requires Adaptability

ern home, the average native Nigerian lives in a one-room mud-brick hut with a tin roof.

Africa has quite a stratified society due to the lack of a middle class, but one is being developed quite rapidly in Nigeria, which Green feels is one of the most progressive West African nations.

Although Nigeria is progressive, wildlife abounds — and in some unusual places. Mrs. Green recalled the day a green mamba, a deadly poisonous snake, visited their living room. A native cook beheaded it with his machette. Snakes rarely enter homes, she added.

Servants are plentiful and usually male. The Greens had three manservants — a cook, a gardener and a steward who did household chores, washing and ironing.

The Greens said they were in no direct danger, during the political coup which began in January with the assassination of the premier. Although fighting took place less than a mile from Ibadan, it was strictly internal. Women and children were asked to remain off the streets as a precautionary measure.

The Greens felt their daughters were benefitting greatly from their experiences overseas. They develop an international outlook as they actually see places that other children read about in books, the parents said.

Brillion to Study Need Of Pool, Recreation Site

swimmers and beginning swimmers is inadequate.

In conclusion, the health department advised the city to consider another swimming installation and cited other communities of less or comparable population where municipal pools have been constructed. Mead and Hunt, Madison consultants, will be asked to advise the citizens' advisory committee on the number of meeting and game rooms that could be included in a combination swimming pool-recreation center the group is suggesting.

Eligible for Loans

Recognizing that the citizens' committee is comprised of representatives of many city organizations and service clubs and thus is most likely to register the "pulse" of community attitudes on desired recreational facilities, the Brillion Foundation has offered to defray legal fees incurred.

The 15-member advisory committee was set up in February by Mayor Clarence Wolf to meet requirements of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. After all prerequisites had been met in June, Brillion became one of the few cities in the state eligible to apply for federal loans or grants for certain projects.

Included are slum clearance, recreation facilities, sewer and water extensions, added sewage disposal facilities, mortgage and home improvement loan insurance for properties in urban renewal project areas and housing for low income families.

Housing Units

Wolf, present at the advisory committee meeting, said the Brillion Housing Authority will build a one-story, 30-unit housing development for elderly citizens in the city. A $6,000 federal loan, approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, July 7, will be used for initial costs of this project.

It is anticipated construction will begin in late fall or early spring, the mayor said. A site has not been purchased but two areas are being considered. One is a 3½-acre tract which is part of the former Lena Mack land on S. Parkway Drive and the other is the Andrews property in the downtown area.

Friends may call at the Weiting Funeral Home after 4 p.m. Tuesday until 10:30 a.m. Wednesday and then at the church until the service.

State's Lawmen Plan Safety Push

Outagamie, Waupaca Sheriffs Will Join in Further Planning

WISCONSIN RAPIDS — We are dedicated to this duty and will continue to do so."

—The Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association and the County Traffic Officers Association represent the greatest number of lawmen in the highway traffic law enforcement field. We appeal for cooperation of all in this effort to stop the useless and unnecessary automobile accidents and the death and suffering caused thereby."

—If we are to accomplish any real results it will require more than the efforts of the law enforcement officers on the highways. It will require the cooperation of the prosecutors, the courts, and local attorneys — but much more the cooperation and better driving habits of the motoring public."

Waupaca County Sheriff Loran Frazier and Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice are members of the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs Association board of directors.

Second Meeting Set

Further work on drawing up the program will be done at an Aug. 25 meeting of the two groups. The site of this meeting has not been named at this time, Frazier said.

The telegram sent to the governor listed eight points. They are:

—"We recognize that additional laws are necessary in order to cope with grave highway traffic problems."

—"We have appealed for them at past sessions of the Legislature and will have a complete program by 1967."

—"We appeal for more intensive enforcement of present traffic laws at all levels, state and local. We also have appealed for more funds to increase local and county traffic law enforcement."

"Recognize Urgency"

—"As county law enforcement officers, we recognize the immediate urgency of appeals now being made by the governor and other law enforcement groups as well as the newspapers, TV and radio in "Operation Stay Alive."

—"The governor has drawn in the state agencies to intensify their efforts to head off the rising traffic toll."

—"The sheriffs, deputy sheriffs and county traffic officers have in the past and will continue in the future to enforce traffic laws 24 hours per day."

Firemen Soak Grain, and Rescue Cat

WAUPACA — Firemen Sunday extinguished a fire smoldering under the Fisher and Falgater Feed Mill building. Later, they had to rescue a cat from a furnace.

The feed mill fire was spotted at 6:45 a.m. by owner Don Falgater. When firemen arrived at the mill on Oborn Street, grain under the floor was smoldering. Firemen soaked it with water.

Chief Bob Hansen and fireman Neil Rasmussen answered the call at the apartment of Sharon Warren, 501 W. Fulton St. at 8:07 a.m. A cat had crawled into a cold air return, and by the time the two firemen arrived, the cat was inside the furnace in the basement. Piping had to be removed to make the rescue.

Red Sox, Foxes Win Titles In New London Boys' Loops

NEW LONDON — The Red Sox pulled an upset in the tournament finals Saturday at Hatten Stadium, beating the Orioles, 3-2, in extra innings for the Boys' Baseball Major League title.

About 1,000 persons watched the event as the Panthers fell to the Foxes, 9-0, in the minor league championship game.

Dennis Peterson fanned 11 Panthers in pitching a one-hit shutout. The Panthers filled the bases in the first and fifth innings but could not score either time.

Steve Rogers provided all the runs the Foxes needed with an inside the park, two-run home run in the second inning.

Two in Seventh

Lee Wing's Red Sox won their game the hard way. The Sox trailed 1-0 going into the sixth inning, but scored on a misplayed infield ground ball. The Sox moved out in front by two runs in the seventh as Tom Fredericks pounded a single to right following two walks by losing pitcher Dan Stern.

The Orioles scored one in the bottom of the inning on a walk and a single by Rick Kamke. Their first run had come in the third inning on a single by Dan Stern following a walk.

Orioles starter Ted Feurig went the first six innings, striking out 12. Winning pitcher Terry Wing fanned 11 before giving way to Mike Elliott, who struck out two.

Saw Foxes Game

All teams in the league were introduced to the audience prior to the championship contests and awards to first division clubs were presented at that time.

James Sheahan, league president, arranged for the entire league to attend the Fox Cities game against Clinton Thursday in Appleton. A total of 320 persons attended the game and a 71-car caravan made the trip.

Proceeds raised at the championship game will be used to help defray the cost of league operations in 1967. Boys Baseball is sponsored by an independent group of New London citizens and is open to nearly all grades of elementary students.

Plans for expanding the loop by one year at each end of the present age bracket are being studied by league officials.
